LIGHTSHIP GOES DOWN WHEN HIT BY GREAT LINER

Three Crew Members of Nantucket Station Vessel Killed and Four Missing After Ship Hit To-day By Liner Olympic

Speed of Liner And Sea Are Blamed

Associated Press
New York, May 15.—Three members of the crew of the Nantucket lightship were killed and four were missing after collision to-day between the lightship and the liner Olympic, in which the lightship was sunk.
First reports from the White Star steamship company, which operates the Olympic, placed the death toll at seven.
Seven members of the lightship's crew were picked up by lifeboats put out by the liner.
The first report from the line's offices said four of the seven were dead when picked up, and that three died aboard the ship.
ST CORRECTED
Later the line officers corrected its casualty list to seven persons rescued, five of whom died aboard the ship and the remaining two survived. The dead, in the corrected list, were: W. Perry, engineer; J. F. Richmond, a sailor; and A. Montoro, a cook.
The four alive were listed by the line as George Braithwaite, master of the lightship; C. E. Mosher, a mate; F. Perry, radio operator, and L. V. Sherris, an alder.
BT BETWEEN MASTS
The Olympic struck the lightship between her two masts and the vessel sank almost immediately, her fog horn blowing loudly.
Capt. Braithwaite suffered severe injuries and his condition was considered critical.
The momentum of the great vessel of the heavy sea was blamed for a collision.
The scene of the accident is forty miles off the island of Nantucket, in the Massachusetts coast, sometimes called the "loneliest spot on the Atlantic." The lightship was built in 1910, was 108 feet long and had a 30-foot beam.

Arms Exports Raise Many Questions In British Commons

Information Wanted on Shipments of Armament Firms to South American Nations at War and Other Countries; Minister Declines Detailed Answers
Labor Men Insist On Full Facts
By George Hambleton
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, May 15.—A storm blew up in the House of Commons to-day over activities of British armament firms, aroused by the League of Nations commission report denouncing sale of arms by several countries—including League members—Bolsheviks and Paraguay, at war over the Gran Chaco region.
A series of questions were fired at the government, but the questioners were not satisfied. Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, declining specific answers at this time.
Particulars were demanded of British armament exports to China and Japan, Paraguay and Bolivia, Colombia and Peru.
"What nickel, scrap-iron and tungsten have gone to Germany?" the opposition demanded to know.
Mr. Runciman merely said he would circulate the information later on in an official report.
SHIPMENTS TO GERMANY
The Laborites nevertheless pressed for details. Had exports of nickel to Germany increased or not? they wanted to know.
"When the honorable gentleman sees the particulars he will have all the answers," he said.

Bank Salaries Topic At Ottawa Inquiry

Commons Committee Discusses Sums Paid to Staff Members Throughout Canada; Motion Designed to Improve Scale Offered
Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 15.—Salaries paid to bank staffs by the House of Commons banking committee to-day. With only two sections of the Bank of Canada remaining, the committee discussed an amendment moved by Hon. Raymond Morand, Conservative, East Ont., which had for its object improvement of the salary scale in the bank.
Dr. Morand's amendment, however, did not attempt to stipulate minimum wages or indicate what salaries should be paid. It required the banks to furnish the Finance Minister with information in respect to their employees, the salaries paid, restrictions on marriage and other matters.
A little publicity was given to the amendment, said Dr. Morand in moving (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

STATEMENT ON TRIP AWAITED

Hon. John Hart Expected to Give Explanation of B.C. Finances Shortly

Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, and Attorney-General Gordon Sloan maintained a discreet silence on their return this morning from Ottawa, where they formed part of the British Columbia delegation seeking financial assistance from the federal government.
Premier Pattullo will return at the end of the week, but before he arrives, it was intimated, Mr. Hart probably will make public further details of the financial position of the province as it stands after the apparent breakdown of the negotiations with Ottawa.

Word from Ottawa yesterday that "final disposition" of British Columbia's request would be made this week led to the conjecture that Premier Bennett's refusal to aid the province financially unless it cuts its budget deficit in half may be modified through a further exchange of information between the two governments.
The six ministers of the cabinet who are in the city were called into executive session immediately on arrival of Mr. Hart and Mr. Sloan this morning. They discussed for an hour informally the events transpiring in the east. Mr. Hart said afterwards he had nothing to announce, but would make a statement later in the week. This, it is understood, will be to set out the financial position of the province, but is not likely to contain any indication of the (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

SUGAR TAX CUT NOW SET TO COME INTO FORCE MAY 21

Commons Is Informed of Government's Change From July 1; B.C. Fruit Canners Will Benefit
Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 15.—The reduction in the sugar tax from two to one cent a pound will go into effect at midnight next Sunday. Instead of on July 1, it was announced in the House of Commons this afternoon.
Prime Minister Bennett, in making the announcement, stated the season's opening of oral arguments was in the nature of a compromise, a truce in the exchange of weighty legal briefs between the Dominion and the province.

LONG HEARING NEARS ITS END

Ottawa, May 15.—The Dyar Royal Commission to-day called a halt in the mass of documentary evidence being submitted by the Dominion and the province of Saskatchewan in the claims suit of the province for compensation arising from federal administration of the province's natural resources from 1905 to 1930.
Dramatically, suddenly, opposing counsel began oral arguments at the firm request of the commission.
Definite claims were temporarily abandoned and tentative claims and counter-claims advanced. Thus the opening of oral arguments was in the nature of a compromise, a truce in the exchange of weighty legal briefs between the Dominion and the province.

PIONEER PASSES

COL. A. W. JONES PASSES AWAY

Pioneer Real Estate Agent Came Here in 1873; Well Known as Golfer

Victoria lost a pioneer citizen and one of its oldest real estate agents in the death this morning of Col. Arthur Williams Jones, 1160 Rockland Avenue, who passed away at the Jubilee Hospital after a long illness, aged eighty-three years.
The late Colonel Jones was born at Branxton, Northumberland, England, in May, 1851, and was educated at Edinburgh Academy. He came to British Columbia in 1873 and had resided here ever since, engaging in the real estate and insurance business for practically the whole of that time.
For many years Colonel Jones was in business at the corner of Broughton and Broad Streets, until a few years ago when he entered into partnership with J. Lytton Mearns, in the firm of Mearns, Jones and Co. Ltd., with offices at 1212 Broad Street.
For many years Col. Jones was associated with the local militia, being prominent in the Fifth Regiment. He was also formerly paymaster for Military District No. 11 and ordnance officer of the Army Service Corps in the militia upon Canada taking over from the imperial authorities in 1906.
A keen golfer until advancing years prevented his taking an active interest in the game, Col. Jones was one of the oldest members, as well as a life member, of the Victoria Golf Club, which he joined in November, 1895. He was its president from 1920 until 1924 inclusive, and until his final illness retained his close association with the club. He had also been a member of the Union Club for many years.
He survived by his widow, at the family residence. Funeral services will be private and it is requested that no flowers be sent.

Pupils and Teacher 5,000 Miles Apart

Two Kiddies in Manchuria Get Mail Order Education From Victoria; 876 Pupils in Province
Two little kiddies, in a far off corner of Manchuria receive a letter every week from the Parliament Buildings in Victoria.
In the envelope are their school lessons, which they study assiduously, write the answers to the questions, and post them back across the Pacific Ocean to this city.
The children, son and daughter of Dr. D. M. Black, a medical missionary, are receiving their education through the correspondence course conducted by the Department of Education.
It is not customary, department officials explained this morning, for the branch to accept pupils outside the province, but an exception was made in the case of Dr. Black's children, who went from B.C.
There are 876 pupils, ranging in age from six to thirty-five or thirty-six years, taking mail order education in the province.
Yesterday the ten teachers who run the school had their pictures taken on the Parliament Buildings lawn and copies will be furnished to some of the students who live in remote settlements and have never seen the "school marmas" who give them long-distance instruction.

RESCUE OF ARIZONA GIRL MADE WITHOUT PAYMENT TO GANG

Little June Robles Safe at Home in Tucson To-day After Being Taken From Pit in Desert Where Abductors Kept Her Chained; Rumors Ransom Paid Are Denied
Under Care Of Physicians To-day
Associated Press
Tucson, Ariz., May 15.—Carlos G. Robles, assistant Pima County attorney and uncle of six-year-old June Robles, flatly denied to-day rumors that the child's kidnappers had received $10,000 in ransom money before the little girl was released from her desert prison late yesterday.
"We absolutely did not pay a cent of ransom to anyone," declared Carlos.
"I have that money," he said at the home of Bernadette Robles, June's grandmother. "It is right upstairs in this house, where it has been all the time."

Tobacco Head Tells Of Sales Control

Committee of Commons Informed By Imperial Company Vice-president of Cutting of Store Supplies to Maintain Prices
Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 15.—The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada had cut off its supplies to a Simpson's departmental chain store for selling tobacco at other manufacturers' less than the regular prices, Earl Spafford, vice-president in charge of sales for the Imperial Company, told the Commons price spreads committee to-day.
This was part of the company's price maintenance system in operation. The Imperial Company was interested in seeing associations of jobbers functioning as a portion of its distribution system, the tobacco official stated. To these associations, he admitted, manufacturers had contributed financially.
Reports of these associations of price cutting were acted on by the stopping of supplies to offending retailers, stated Mr. Spafford. An independent retailer who obtained his supplies indirect from the Imperial Company made a profit of 13 per cent on cigarettes, or a disadvantage of 10 per cent against the retailer who has to purchase direct.

Three Men Admit Shares In Abduction

Los Angeles Police Say Trio Held For Kidnapping W.F. Gettle Confess; Millionaire Victim Freed Yesterday
Associated Press
Los Angeles, May 15.—Three men arrested in the kidnapping of William F. Gettle, released unharmed and unharmed Monday night, were reported by authorities to-day to have admitted participation in the abduction of the Beverly Hills millionaire.
Statements of the three, made in the presence of police detectives, sheriff's deputies and postoffice inspectors, named Jimmy Kirk as the alleged "brains" of the plot. Harry Kerrigan as the man who guarded Gettle, and Roy Williams as the one who aided Kirk in seizing the millionaire at his summer home last week.
Kerrigan was quoted by police as saying he was to have received $18,000 for acting as Gettle's guard, and that Kirk had ordered Gettle to write the letters regarding arrangements for delivery of the $20,000 ransom.
Kirk, in a statement to the officers, said the plot to kidnap Gettle was his idea, but Williams and Kerrigan helped him make the plans.
Asked if anyone else was involved in the plot, Kirk said:
"That is all."
He said he knew nothing about the two women, Loretta Woody and Joan Burke, now in custody.
DID KIDNAPPING
Williams, in his statement, said he and Kirk were the two men who kidnapped Gettle.

his amendment. It seemed almost impossible to set up a minimum wage standard under the act, he stated, but something would be gained by getting the facts and laying them before the minister.

ORGANIZATION RIGHT
Major C. G. Power, Liberal, Quebec South, suggested a provision in the act under which employees would be given the right to organize. He recalled cases in Quebec courts where bank employees were on trial for defalcations and the judge, after learning their salaries, had remarked he did not blame them, but rather the bank, in view of their small compensation.

Prime Minister Bennett, who again attended to the business of the House, N. Rhodes, Finance Minister, interjected bank employees already had the right to organize under the act. MOVED ABOUT
William Irvine, U.F.A., Wetaskiwin, replied efforts to organize were negated by the fact men were moved about here and there. "I think something should be done to see the employees are paid a decent wage," he said. The amendment id little more

PROFITS STATED

Profits of the Canadian Leaf Tobacco Company, Canadian branch of the Universal Leaf Tobacco Company of the United States, were given by its representative, Charles W. Thomas, in 1932 net profits were $42,594, in 1933 $48,571, in 1934 $49,404, in 1935 $123,000, and in 1936 $138,109.

Mr. Spafford denied his company was guilty of unfair merchandising methods.

The witness read a telegram from Vice-president W. P. Tingle, in charge outside advertising for the Imperial Company, stating the company had always respected advertising displays of competitors and had not interfered with them. Sometimes, the telegram read, there had been over-zealousness on the part of salesmen who were reprimanded, but this occurred also with competitors.

Ottawa, May 15.—The Commons mass buying committee to-day had before it a declaration that the Imperial Tobacco Company of Montreal received no advance information when the excise tax was reduced in 1932. Gray Miller, the president, made the statement when he was a witness at yesterday afternoon's session of the committee.

The committee wrote another chapter in the tale that started when Walter M. Stewart, owner of the W. C. Macdonald Tobacco Company of Canada, said a few days ago his competitors had received a tip when the taxation changes were made, intimating some member of the committee might have permitted the leak.

QUICK ACTION
With all the action packed in ten minutes, the following facts came to the surface:

1—Officials of the Tuckett Tobacco plant in Hamilton, Ont., said the factory was not closed a few days before the excise changes were announced, as alleged by Mr. Stewart. It is an Imperial subsidiary.

2—Three members of the ministry, Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes, Secretary of State Charles H. Cahan, and Minister of National Revenue Charles R. Matthews will appear before the committee. They were named by Mr. Stewart in a letter as the three ministers he wished to interrogate on the subject of budget leaks.

REGRET STATEMENTS
3—In a letter addressed to the committee (which was read earlier in the House of Commons by Premier R. B. Bennett), Mr. Stewart regretted statements about buying the government, saying he was "sorry for some of the things I said. . . I should not have said what I did about buying the government and commissions, and I wish to retract."

4—On the day the cabinet minister appeared before the committee, Mr. Stewart may be a witness as well. It was believed they would issue emphatic denials about broadcasting the proposed taxation changes.

Mr. Miller, president of the Imperial, said that to his knowledge, the company had made no contributions to campaign funds, certainly not since he had become president. There was one more feature in a day devoted to the tobacco industry—charges that the Imperial Company look retailers by the throat in efforts to make them buy their goods and display them exclusively. They were denied by Earl Spafford, vice-president in charge of sales.

The committee was proceeding quietly with the grey-haired president on the stand when Donald Kennedy, United Farmers of Alberta member for Peace River, suddenly referred to the Stewart charges. In his southern drawl, Mr. Miller denied receiving an advance tip on the excise changes, either from cabinet ministers or anyone else.

DENIES CONTRIBUTIONS MADE

Then, prompted by the Peace River member, while the crowd in the committee room "at forward" in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, expressed knowledge of his company making contributions to political parties.

(Mr. Stewart said Ward Pitfield of Montreal had collected money for Conservatives from him in the 1930 election, leaving the impression a contribution would be interpreted as meaning he desired a reduction in the excise tax.)

LABOR GAINS LONDON SEAT

London, May 15.—Labor has regained the Upton, West Ham, seat in the House of Commons, rendered vacant through the resignation of A. J. Chotzman, Conservative.

Complete count of ballots in the by-election yesterday showed the Laborite, B. W. Gardner, elected with 31,668 votes against 28,787 for Mr. Chotzman, Conservative, and 743 for Fenner Brockway, Independent Labor Party candidate.

Gardner, who has been a waterfront laborer and a journalist, was elected in Upton for the first time in 1923, but lost his seat the following year. When the Conservatives took it in 1929 he regained it by a majority of 5,022, but lost it again when Chotzman, a retired Indian civil servant, took it for the Conservatives in the last general election. At that time Chotzman's majority was 5,108 in a straight fight.

Gardner's victory completed Labor's occupancy of the four seats in the West Ham divisions. Laborites were returned at the 1931 election in the other three.

Relief Measure, Farm Mortgage Bill and Elections Bill to Be Introduced

Ottawa, May 15.—Formal notices were placed on the order paper to-day of the introduction in the House of Commons to-morrow of four important government measures. The Prime Minister will introduce resolutions providing for a bill to facilitate compromises between farmers and their creditors, and to amend the Canadian Farm Loan Act. The Minister of Justice will bring in a resolution foreshadowing the changes in the Election Act and the Minister of Public Works a resolution for the public works programme.

The legislation to assist farmers in reaching an understanding with their creditors is believed to make provisions that in each county there will be facilities to enable the debtors to clear their obligations by paying a rate on the dollar and to receive assistance to carry out the plan.

The changes in the Election Act will make provision for a Dominion franchise commissioner who will have supervision over preparation of voters' lists and the enumerators.

Reports have said the public works bill would run from $40,000,000 to $60,000,000, with projects in all the provinces.

future policy. When the Premier returns, further information will be forthcoming along this line.

The dramatic nature of the British Columbia conversations with Ottawa served to throw the spotlight very forcibly on this section of the Dominion, however. Public men in the east are now very much concerned with what the west plans to do. Editors and public office-holders are planning to come to British Columbia and study the situation at first hand.

Further evidence that the split between the provincial and federal governments over the financial policy of British Columbia has drawn the east-west line very clearly is contained in an editorial in The Vancouver Sun, headed "A Dominion of British Columbia." The following comment is made under this heading:

"There must be a more equitable sharing among Canadians of things Canadian, or the west will look about in self-defence to make things its own. . . I should not have said what I did about buying the government and commissions, and I wish to retract."

The editorial charges the "financial and industrial manipulators" in St. James Street with building up in England an antagonism against Canadian products that is reducing to penury the people who live in the west.

Riots Flare In Port Strike On U.S. Coast

At Seattle, E. A. Quigley, of the Waterfront Employers' Union, announced after Governor Martin had refused to call out the National Guard, that all shipping would continue to sail.

Governor Martin, Governor Meier and Governor James Rolph of California joined in an appeal to the national labor board and to President Roosevelt for aid in attempting to bring about a settlement or truce. Sporadic violence continues in San Francisco, where men were beat and a taxicab in which Albert Gibson, replacement worker on the waterfront, was riding was turned over.

In Los Angeles the teamsters union followed the lead of the San Francisco teamsters in refusing to haul merchandise to and from docks. The embargo of the city of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Iron Shipbuilders, Welders and Helpers and Machinists' Unions voted to support the longshoremen by a sympathetic walkout.

Through the International Longshoremen's Association, the strikers are demanding $1 an hour and a thirty-hour week in place of the present 85 cents an hour and forty-eight-hour week.

FIGHT AT WHARVES

San Pedro, Cal., May 15.—Storming a stockade in which 400 non-strikers had been housed, a mob of 500 or more striking longshoremen created a bloody riot at Los Angeles harbor about midnight in which one man was shot and twenty-one injured, two so seriously they may die. Scores were hurt slightly.

The violence brought to an end a peaceful strike of the cargo handlers of some 1,800 of whom walked out with thousands of others in Pacific Coast ports of the United States in protest against wages, working hours and demands for recognition of their union. Yesterday rumblings of disorders were heard.

A crowd of sixty special police and thirty deputies was dispatched to the stockade, built in the west basin near the Grace Line docks. The shouting army of strikers launched the assault about midnight, descending on the camp, bearing lighted flares, clubs and sticks. The fence was battered down in short order and the torch applied to the inflammable canvas tents.

Soon a terrific hand-to-hand struggle was staged between the two camps. The strikers, who continued to be fired, a volley rang out. Dick Parker, twenty, who joined the union Monday, was shot through the chest and killed.

The police, which started at the West Basin at Wilmington, spread over the docks with a maddened mob of cursing, yelling men swinging or throwing anything their hands were laid on.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

San Francisco, May 15 (Associated Press).—Despite his alibi claim, Millard Hickman, forty-five-year-old marine engineer, to-day was under grand jury indictment here on a charge of murdering Louise Jeppesen, pretty Ogden, Utah, girl. The indictment was returned less than forty-eight hours after the twenty-three-year-old girl's broken body was discovered sprawled in a pedestrian tunnel in the Golden Gate Park.

EARTHQUAKE OFF ALASKA

Associated Press
New York, May 15.—Earth shocks of moderate intensity were recorded yesterday evening on the seismographs of Fordham University. Ex-precise placed the centre of the quake near southern Alaska, about 3,420 miles northwest of New York. The first quake was recorded at 5:32:40 p.m. E.S.T. and a second at 6:29:03 p.m.

An earthquake of moderate intensity, believed to have its epicentre off the coast of Southern California, was recorded at the Victoria Observatory yesterday afternoon, at 2:17:15. It lasted for one hour and one-half and was slightly heavier than the one recorded here yesterday morning. It was 1,395 miles distant from Victoria.

Rescue Of Arizona Girl Made Without Payment To Gang

Tucson, corroborated Carlos's statement. A ransom of $15,000 was demanded when the six-year-old girl was abducted April 25.

SAFE AT HOME
Little June was at home to-day, safe after her rescue following a nine-day ordeal.

Physicians watched over her anxiously to ascertain how seriously she may have been affected by an ordeal which might easily have killed her—blazing days of sun that burned her olive skin, and chilly, lonely nights in iron chains that gripped her slender ankles.

LETTER FROM CHICAGO
An unsigned letter, postmarked Chicago, gave the directions that led to her rescue late Monday by her uncle, Carlos Robles, and Clarence Houston, Pima County attorney.

The letter that saved the girl's life—she could not have survived much longer in her desert dungeon—was received Monday at the office of Governor Meier in Phoenix. It gave explicit instructions for finding the girl "buried under a cactus" near Tucson.

The hunters feared it meant she was dead.

Houston and Robles went to the place indicated. Houston stumbled on the prison.

HIDES IN ROOF
There were several holes in the roof, and the sun burned down to make the pit, despite the covering of cacti, a sweltering inferno by day. It was a chill, horrifying tomb by night.

When they found June she was ill and too weak to walk. She appeared calm, but the horrors of her experience had written themselves on her. The barbarity of the girl's kidnappers was without present-day parallel. The prison itself could have been conceived by no one but a person insensitive to human suffering. The pit, with its covering, would not allow her to stand erect, and she could hardly sit. There was room only to turn over.

CHAINED TO SPIKE
The chains that held her ankles were fastened to an iron spike. The kidnappers supplied enough food to keep the child alive, but the food was poor, and not clean.

She was in nowise frightened or timid when her rescuers arrived. As Houston looked down the child she was calmly sucking an orange.

"Do you know me, honey?" he called down softly. With childlike leasurlessness she glanced up.

"No," she said. "Do you know 'Lechit'?" Houston asked, using the child's own nickname for her Uncle Carlos.

"Oh, yes," she cried, happily, straining then to get free of the cruel chains.

MRS. J. STRAITH CALLED TO REST

There are also thirteen grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. Straith was born in Mount Forest, Ontario, where her marriage took place to Rev. Peter Straith, minister of the Presbyterian Church.

Thirty-one years ago her husband predeceased her at Innisburg, Ontario, where he at that time held a charge, leaving her with a family of ten young children to raise, a task to which she brought all the sterling Christian qualities which have marked her whole life.

Following the husband's death, Mrs. Straith and her family lived for a time on the prairie, and after four years in Saskatchewan came to Victoria in 1913, reading here ever since.

Mrs. Straith, together with members of her family, has been a devoted and active member of the First United Church over twenty years, and in appreciation of her services to the cause of mission work was made a life member in the Women's Missionary Society.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Arms Exports Raise Many Questions In British Commons

the information he asks for," Mr. Runciman replied.

"It is an impudent answer," hotly retorted Aneurian Bevan, Welsh Laborite.

"Withdraw, withdraw," stormed the government supporters.

The Speaker rose and stilled the tumult—but it was indicative of stirring days ahead.

"AT LAST GASP"
Addressing students of King's College to-day, Capt. A. Duff Cooper, financial secretary to the War Office, was blunt in declaring "the Disarmament Conference is at its last gasp."

In the coming year, he predicted, large sums of money would be spent on increasing armaments. The British air force itself would be built up from its present position—fifth or sixth among the world's powers. The country was in a dangerous and exposed position, he said.

"While other people are discussing disarmament the position of Germany is such they are even lecturing on the 'beauty of war' in the schools, and have introduced a new game known as 'war sport,' in which the pupils are taught to dig trenches and handle bayonets," he added.

At the same time a deputation from the national joint council of the British Labor movement strongly urged the government to make a supreme effort for a disarmament convention at the critical meeting of the conference late this month.

The Golden Trail of '58

Camels In The Cariboo

IN 1862 a strange sight greeted the eyes of doughty Cariboo miners: when camels were introduced into British Columbia as a means of transport. Although they could carry twice the load of ordinary pack-mules, they proved a great annoyance to the latter, which became quite unmanageable when they scented the strange beasts. In all the varied history of British Columbia, the appearance of these desert beasts upon its Northern trails is perhaps the greatest oddity.

TO REPORT ON NICKEL EXPORTS

Canadian Bureau of Statistics Will Issue Figures of Canadian Shipments

Ottawa, May 15.—It has been decided by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics to issue statistics of values of the exports of Canadian nickel to countries at monthly intervals, according to a return laid on the table of the House of Commons.

The return was in reply to a question from J. S. Woodsworth, Labor, Winnipeg North Centre.

Production statistics will be issued monthly and statistics of values and quantities of export will be published monthly and annually.

For the first quarter of this year the exports of nickel in one and one-half years were: United Kingdom, $1,890; Norway, $416,559; nickel ore, United Kingdom, $22,105; United States, $61,443; Netherlands, $12,069; Germany, $11,285; fine nickel, United Kingdom, $754,532; United States, $5,700,078; Netherlands, $458,878; Japan, $105,772; Germany, $190,117; Italy, $34,607; France, $5,778.

U.S. IMPORTS OF LIQUOR GROW

Washington, May 15.—The United States Department of Commerce yesterday issued statistics showing the use of foreign liquors held in bond in warehouses to have increased from more than $5,000,000 December 31 to more than $19,000,000 at the end of March.

Estimates pointed to a further $5,000,000 increase by the end of April and even larger stocks in May. The March final statistics showed $17,478,000 worth of liquor, mostly from Canada and the United Kingdom, in stock.

Reorganization Of Canadian Militia Being Considered

Armored Car and Tank Units Would Replace Some Cavalry and Infantry; Alberta May Be Absorbed
in B.C. District

Ottawa, May 15.—Complete reorganization of the non-permanent active militia of Canada on modern lines is understood to be under consideration by the Department of National Defence, but the changes effected will likely be made gradually and the process may extend over a period of several years.

As the development of the armored car and the tank has caused great changes in methods of warfare, some of the present cavalry regiments may be changed into armored car units and a number of infantry battalions may be made over into tank formations.

Where possible all the units in the present service will be fitted into the new scheme, but considerable regrouping may be done.

DISTRICT CHANGES

The scheme in its broad sense when it becomes operative may involve geographical changes in military districts as now constituted. Though official confirmation is lacking, the realignment of the districts may involve the amalgamation of Toronto and London military districts, Montreal and Quebec districts and absorption of the Regina district by Winnipeg and Alberta by British Columbia. The Saint John, N.B. military district, it is expected, will be absorbed by Halifax.

It is understood that though the changes contemplated in the Canadian militia will be based on the most modern British model and will fit into a large scheme of Empire defence, Canadian control will everywhere be the keynote.

BRITISH SELLING GERMANY PLANES

Farmers of Argentina are beginning their fall plowing, happy over recent rains.

QUESTIONS ON INVESTIGATION

Commons Members Ask How Long Business Practices Inquiry to Continue

Ottawa, May 15.—Members of the House of Commons seized the opportunity yesterday afternoon to question Hon. H. H. Stevens as to how long the mass buying committee was going to sit, and whether it would recommend a royal commission or other investigating body.

The occasion was when an interim supply bill was before the House, and included a vote to defray expenses of parliamentary committees.

The minister was asked whether the committee could finish its investigations before the end of the present session. "Certainly," Mr. Stevens replied. "And a substantial report can be made as to the ground that has been covered, but it is easily seen that many phases of mercantile activity cannot possibly be covered by this committee or by any body, except over a very lengthy period."

ROYAL COMMISSION

In regard to a royal commission, Mr. Stevens could not give a definite reply. It was a matter for the committee, "but I imagine the report of the committee will contain some recommendations as to what disposition should be made of unfinished business."

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King suggested part two of the marketing bill dealing with investigations of price spreads anticipated the report of the committee.

The committee had nothing to do with the bill, Mr. Stevens explained, but it might be stated the marketing bill applied only to natural products.

Hon. W. A. Gordon Ill in Ottawa

Ottawa, May 15.—Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, Immigration and Mines, has been ill for the last few days and has been advised by his doctors to take as much rest as possible. He has been away from the House of Commons for about a week, but still keeps in touch with his three departments. His condition, it is understood, is not serious.

EXTINCTION FACES TRIBE

Only Eight of the Famous
"White" Indians of British Guiana Still Live

Georgetown, British Guiana, May 15.—Extinction is drawing near for the Walai Indians, the once-powerful tribe of the "white" Indians who populated British Guiana's unexplored hinterland in thousands at one time. Back in the colony's wild southern region, the numbers of the tribe have been dropping steadily until now there remain but eight survivors.

The discovery was made by a survey party, now demarcating the boundary line between British Guiana and Brazil for the British Guiana government. Members of the party, pushing through dense jungle growths in a strange territory, came on the tribe's remnants a few miles from the Brazil border.

The handful of startled natives, grouped in a few huts, consisted chiefly of old men and women. Death was not more than a few years away for most of them, and to the explorers it appeared but a matter of time before the tribe would be extinct.

"PALE PINK"

Their complexion was described in reports reaching Georgetown as of a pale pink color. The white visitors for most of them, and to the explorers it appeared but a matter of time before the tribe would be extinct.

This same characteristic was noted by the late Dr. W. E. Roth, who discovered the race in 1925 while the noted anthropologist was carrying out ethnological observations for the United States government and the Smithsonian Institution. Dr. Roth said it was the first time he had come across Indians who whistled.

At the time of his visit, the tribe numbered 150.

But from neighboring peoples it was learned the "white" Indians once populated a wide territory in British Guiana's interior. Reason for their gradual extinction was never learned.

MANITOBA DEATH

Earl Beatty Not To Attend Dinner

London, May 15.—Admiral of the Fleet Earl Beatty intimated yesterday he would be unable to visit Sunderland May 31, as scheduled, for the dinner of the newly-formed Ex-Navy Men's Society. It was not stated whether the cancellation was a result of the Sunderland council's action in rejecting a resolution to award the Earl the freedom of the city—a more first made fifteen years ago, but never carried out because in all that time the admiral did not pay any visit to Sunderland.

ITALY'S ARMS ARE OUTLINED

Not Thinking of Any "Territorial Conquest" in Africa and East, Says Mussolini

London, May 15.—Geographic and historic reasons were given yesterday by Premier Mussolini in an interview with Hector Bywater, editor of The London Daily Telegraph, in regard to the expansion of Italian power in Africa and Asia, and the need for a strong navy.

"Geography and history both warrent us in taking Asia and Africa as objectives," he said. "We are nearer to those two continents than any of the greater western European powers. No one should mistake the meaning of our task. We are not thinking of any territorial conquest, but every-one should know we are thinking of a natural expansion allowing us to co-operate with the nations of Africa and the Far East."

Premier Mussolini then turned to the problems of the League of Nations and of disarmament, saying: "The principle of the reform of the League of Nations which is almost universally accepted, is clear. The reforms that are being considered should only be undertaken after the closing of the Disarmament Conference, because if this conference fails there will be no need to make any further reforms."

He will be enough to consider the work of the League of Nations as ended."

UNIVERSITY GROUPS MEET

National Conference of Canadian Universities to Be Held in Hamilton

Montreal, May 15.—Graduate study in Canada, adult education, the junior college and the high school in relation to the university will form the subjects of discussion at the sixteenth meeting of the National Conference of Canadian Universities to be held at McMaster University, Hamilton, Ont., next week.

The official programme, announced today by Col. Wilfrid Bovey, director of extra-mural relations, McGill University, reveals university heads from one end of Canada to the other will assemble in Hamilton on May 25 to 28 to participate in the conference.

Four papers will be read at the opening session on Friday morning, May 25, under the general heading, "Graduate Study in Canada." "In applied Science" is the title of one to be read by Dean R. W. Brock, University of British Columbia.

A paper will be presented by Dr. S. J. Willis, superintendent of education for British Columbia, on "A Plan for Accrediting."

DEPRECIATING MONEY URGED

Decrease of Value Monthly Would End Hoarding, Says
E. S. Woodward

Winnipeg, May 15.—Money that would depreciate at the rate of 12 per cent annually would increase wages five to ten-fold, declared E. S. Woodward, Vancouver, national executive secretary of the Free Economy League of Canada, in an address here yesterday evening.

Mr. Woodward advocated the introduction into Canada of the "Gesell scientific monetary system," and argued that economists had failed to examine exhaustively the money instrument of capitalism.

Adoption of a depreciating currency system would stimulate business and produce government revenues more efficiently than under the present "sound" money policy, he declared. He added that a depreciating currency was necessary for the continued circulation of money.

Mr. Woodward explained the Gesell currency notes required demurrage stamps of 1 per cent per month, so that "money cannot be hoarded but must continually circulate."

The steady circulation, he guaranteed, he claimed, "brisk trade, full employment, higher wages, spot cash payment, decreasing interest rates, lower taxes and decreased business overhead."

He attacked gold as a useless medium of exchange, and declared usury was the greatest blight on the present monetary system.

Italian Exports Down Last Month

Rome, May 15.—Italian exports dropped sharply in April, it was announced here today. Imports, however, increased.

Exports amounted to 635,169,000 lire, compared with 605,155,000 lire in April, 1933.

Imports totaled 404,580,000 lire, compared with 497,660,000 lire in the same month last year.

TO RULE ON AMENDMENT

Ottawa, May 15.—During the budget debate in the Commons yesterday, Wilfrid Irvine, U.F.A. Westsaskatoon, challenged the soundness of the Liberal amendment to the budget motion, proposed earlier by Hon. J. I. Ralston, member for Shelburne-Yarmouth, N.S. The Speaker reserved decision.

B.C. Lumber Trade Debated

Subject Before House of Commons During Budget
Discussion

Ottawa, May 15.—The budget debate was continued in the Commons yesterday afternoon, but no front benchers took part.

B.C. LUMBER TRADE

J. A. Fraser, Conservative, Cariboo, said the lumber industry was in a flourishing condition in British Columbia during the last winter until it had some difficulties with labor problems which Mr. Fraser understood had now been straightened out. This improved condition was made possible by the Ottawa agreement.

"What about the gold tax?" asked Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Liberal, Vancouver Centre.

"I will discuss the gold tax later on," said Mr. Fraser. However, the forty-minute limit cut him off before he had reached that portion of his speech.

FIGURES COMPARED

A. E. Munn, Liberal, North Vancouver, disagreed with Mr. Fraser in respect to the British Columbia lumbering industry. More than three times as much lumber had been exported from Canada in 1929 as in 1933, Mr. Munn said, and exports from British Columbia to the United States had fallen off greatly.

Production of lumber in British Columbia in 1929 was only fifty-two per cent of that in 1929. He believed Canadian lumbermen had lost more in the failure of foreign markets than they had gained through the concessions in the Ottawa agreement.

AIR MAIL SERVICE

W. W. Kennedy, Conservative, Winnipeg North Centre, said that at the present rate of advance of the trans-canada airway system, there would be from coast to coast by next fall an airway which would have safe landing places every twenty-five miles.

Should the trans-canada air mail service be undertaken by a private company under contract with the government, subject to essential government regulations and control to safeguard the public interest, or should it be undertaken by a semi-national corporation on which the government would have adequate representation, or should it be undertaken as one more national enterprise?

Which ever way was decided on, said Mr. Kennedy, it should be one of planned progress.

This country should be considered as one from eighteen to twenty-four hours wide in point of time.

The adjournment of the debate was moved by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals. The debate will continue to-morrow.

PARENTS TO FACE MURDER CHARGE

Valleyfield, Que., May 15.—Edouard Groleau and his wife were both committed to stand trial here at the next session of the criminal assizes on a charge of murdering their six-year-old daughter, Laura, by Judge J. H. Lemay at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing yesterday.

Story of alleged parental brutality inflicted on the child which, according to medico-legal experts, was the direct cause of her death, was told by Charles and Joseph Groleau, brothers of the accused man. They corroborated each other's evidence that the child had been made to sleep on the floor in cold winter nights and had frequently gone without food or water because her parents, and particularly her mother, refused to give her any nourishment.

ONTARIO'S DEBT

THE PEOPLE OF ONTARIO ARE NOW getting ready for the provincial general elections which will take place next month. Although the date has not yet been announced, the government has let it be known that June has been chosen for the contest. In the meantime the political pot is being stirred and the affairs of the province are being discussed on the platform and in the newspapers.

The other day in Ottawa, Attorney-General Price defended the financial policies of the Henry government and openly admitted that the time had been reached when governments could not pay off debt, that the Dominion could not do it, and neither could the municipalities. But Mr. Price somewhat staggered opposition elements when he said that previously efforts had been made to make the provincial debt a stationary feature, but the advent of the depression had obstructed operation of this policy.

This claim hardly seems to be borne out by the facts. According to figures contained in The Canada Year Book for 1933, there is only one year between 1924 and 1930, inclusive, when the debt of the province was less than in the previous year. Here are the details:

1924	.....$348,722,000
1925	.....345,207,000
1926	.....366,629,000
1927	.....371,422,000
1928	.....396,354,000
1929	.....429,289,000
1930	.....476,178,000

It will be noted that the figures set out above account for the seven full years of the Premiership of Mr. Howard Ferguson, and they cover the years in which Canada climbed up out of the depression which hit the country between 1920 and 1923, on through the boom years which ended about the beginning of 1930. So the claim Mr. Henry made in Ottawa that the depression interfered with a policy which had for its object the making of Ontario's debt a stationary feature would hardly seem to hold water. Of what has happened since Mr. Henry inherited the job of Premier, on Mr. Ferguson's appointment as Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain, The Toronto Globe has the following to say:

Mr. Henry inherited a swiftly increasing interest bill, and a falling revenue, due to long-continued hard times. One would have supposed that under these conditions he would have striven to stop the annual increase of debt that was fast transferring a large part of the total revenue of the province to the pockets of its bondholders and bankers in the form of interest payments.

What actually happened in the three years of Price-Henry finance, 1931-1933, of which we have official record, was an enormous annual increase of debt, while ordinary revenues and expenditures were so manipulated as to produce balanced budgets. Everything that could in decency be called capital expenditure—and much that could not—was added to the debt, so that interest payments ate up day by day a larger portion of the provincial taxes. The increase of Ontario's direct liabilities under the Price-Henry government have been as follows:

1931	.....$524,347,000
1932	.....572,318,000
1933	.....592,027,000

If the direct liabilities at the end of the fiscal year 1930 are deducted from those of October 31, 1933, it will be found that the debt of Ontario has been increased to the extent of $60,817 per day during every day that Mr. Henry has been Premier. The average annual rate of debt increase laid on the shoulders of already overburdened taxpayers has been $28,928,000. Increase of indirect liabilities and guarantees also added seriously to the interest payments on the debt, during 1933. Clearly the government never tried to keep either the debt or the interest payments stationary.

No special purpose would be served by comparing present conditions in British Columbia with those obtaining in Ontario. But the figures which show the growth of the debt in Canada's wealthiest and most highly industrialized province should be taken into account by those superior persons in the east who assume the role of schoolmaster over what they regard as the recalcitrant west—and particularly British Columbia—who have been telling Mr. Pattullo that he must go back home and do his sums again before a Dominion government dominated by eastern financiers will listen sympathetically to his appeal for some form of financial support.

UNEMPLOYMENT

ONE OF THE MOST NOTABLE EX-ports of the prairie provinces to British Columbia in recent years has been their unemployed. We have no information of the number of workless people who, particularly during the winter months, have migrated to this province by various means, but it undoubtedly runs into many thousands. A certain proportion of these, especially single physically able men, are provided for by the Ottawa government in relief camps, but the remainder imposes a heavy charge upon the provincial treasury.

This helps to explain, too, why the provincial unemployment list is so slow in registering an improvement. On account of its climatic advantages, British Columbia, especially the coast section, has a special allurements for the unemployed on the prairies, and the more work that develops here, the larger and more continuous is the influx.

We wonder how far Mr. Bennett has taken this factor into consideration in his negotiations with Mr. Pattullo relative to financial assistance to British Columbia. He must be aware that the movement of unemployed from east of the Rockies to the coast has added an enormous sum to the burdens of the province and municipalities, and will continue to do so until the migration is stopped by general improvement in conditions. No doubt a considerable share of responsibility for the deficit which Mr. Bennett objects to arises indirectly from this situation.

THE UNHOLY TWINS

A DISPATCH TO THE VANCOUVER

Province from its special London correspondent reports the castigation of London's "octopus press" by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald in a sensational speech at the Newspaper Society's banquet recently.

Mr. MacDonald accused this element of the London press of falsifying and suppressing news, of advertising trivialities as "astounding revelations," and of emphasizing some casual episode as tremendously sensational. Then, he declared, news and views were so entangled no reader could get the truth. All this, he said, was weakening the fibre of the British people's minds and making them incompetent to judge of public affairs. Orders issued from the London end of a telephone line to editors and reporters throughout the United Kingdom telling them what kind of reports and what opinions to utter showed how news was doctored and how the power of the press over the public mind was abused.

This attack, of course, was directed at the newspapers owned by Lord Rothermere and Lord Beaverbrook, who operate publications of large circulations but very limited influence. This precious pair, formerly Harold Harnsworth and Max Aitken, who got their titles through the invariable political pull, and whose exemplar is William Randolph Hearst in the United States, have been trying to run the United Kingdom for some years by throwing mud at all public men who will not accept their dictation.

Harnsworth managed the business end of the great chain of publications established by his brother Alfred, who became Lord Northcliffe, and seldom was heard of when the latter was alive. Aitken, who came from New Brunswick, was formerly a company promoter in Canada who went to London and acquired a title or two through his financial fortunes. Neither, by training, experience, ability or inclination, is qualified to dictate public policy. Both of them are simply promoters who envisage everything in terms of pounds and dividends. In this respect they are away below their American model, for Hearst learned publishing from the basement up and is not a specialist in the watering of stock.

It is interesting to recall that the attack of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald on these cheap and nasty muck-rakers is in the same terms as those in which they were chastised by both Mr. Stanley Baldwin and Mr. Lloyd George on several occasions. Canada may blush for Beaverbrook, but pleads "not guilty" for Rothermere.

"FORGED IN HELL"

NOW THAT THE OLD ROMAN MAXIM, "to safeguard peace we must prepare for war," is being trotted out in various countries, it is timely to recall some observations made by the late Israel Zangwill, the well-known British author who was not afraid to voice his objections to the war. This is what he thought of the blood-encrusted saying:

"I know that maxim; it was forged in hell. This wealth of ships and guns inflames the vulgar and makes the very war it guards against. The god of war is now a man of business, with vested interests. So much sunk capital, such countless callings, the army, navy, medicine, the church—to bless and bury—music, engineering, red tape departments, commissaries, stores, transports, ammunition, coal stations, fortifications, cannon foundries, shipyards, arsenals, rangers, drill halls, floating docks, war loan promoters, military tailors, camp followers, canteens, war correspondents, horse breeders, armorers, torpedo makers, pipe clay and medal vendors, big drum makers, gold lace embroiderers, opticians, buglers, tent makers, banner weavers, powder mixers, crutches and cork limb manufacturers, balloonists, mapists, helicopter flyers, flying men and diving demons, Beelzebub and all his hosts, who, whether in water, air or land, among them pocket when trade is brisk, a million pounds a week."

Business among the war "trades" obviously is brisk just now. In Europe, in South America, and in the Orient there are troubled conditions. It may be that so much is being said about war, conflicting interests are talking so loudly at one another, that nothing more serious than talk will develop.

What is to be regretted, however, is that all this is going on after more than two years of deliberation at a Disarmament Conference. War debts are not being paid; but all the money necessary to increase the stock of war's implements evidently can be found without any trouble.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

PILLOWS AND SOAP
The Toronto Mail and Empire

The New York visitor notices evidences of economy. At one famous hotel, which cost millions of dollars, the beds in single rooms are provided with only one pillow apiece. The aggregate saving in laundry and service thus effected in a very large hotel is considerable. The bathrooms are not as plentifully supplied with cakes of soap as they used to be. In the magnificent Grand Central Station on 42nd Street the incoming baggage department has been closed so that incoming and outgoing baggage are handled by a single staff. Here again a considerable saving has been achieved. These are examples of the parsimonious economies that are being practiced south of the international border.

"NOT WON BY PRAYERS"
The Toronto Globe

The present (Ontario) Government deserves to be defeated on its record. It should be rejected by the voters because it has held office too long. The nature of the times ought to count disastrously against it. But what is its advantage in an election campaign which will weigh heavily. It is reported as possessing enormous funds to be used for organization, for meetings and to get out the votes. It has an unknown number of people throughout the province blessing it as a worthy benefactor. More than a decade in office, with the main eye always on the ballot box, has counted for very much. The Conservatives can afford to engage a battalion of organizers for every one the Liberals can maintain. They can be lining up the voters while the Liberals are hunting for carfare. They can muster enough strength in a working personnel to keep the concessions humming between now and election day.

NOTICE!

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 400 words. It positively will not print lengthy communications.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our patient readers as for that of The Times.

LOGGERS

To the Editor—Surely I am safe in saying anyone who reads my letter of May 10, on the logging strike, and then read Mr. Sheppard's letter would never dream his confusion of abusive criticism was in any way a reply to my letter. In fact, I could not see any connection whatsoever with the meaning my letter conveyed, or intended to convey. It is needless for me to comment further except that, generally speaking, it is too well known my sympathies are, and always have been, with the workers irrespective of anything Mr. Sheppard may infer to the contrary.

"ECONOMIES"

To the Editor—In replying to the letter entitled "Economies," signed by "Delete Caninus," which appeared in your issue of even date, may I bring on your valuable space to say: The placing of the janitors on part time as quoted in "Delete Caninus" letter, would be a departmental order, and I would not care to take any credit for any saving made thereby. The saving as quoted by The Daily Colonist of date May 14, refers to gross estimates for the years April, 1930, to March, 1934, which shows a reduction of $8,350. The official copies of the estimates will substantiate the correctness of this amount.

KICK!

To the Editor—It is indeed enlightening—and so vastly important—to learn that Mr. Milligan raised a family on $2.50 per diem and got a tremendous kick out of so doing. And, Mr. Editor, it would not surprise me a bit to learn that the family did too; it all depends on the interpretation of the word "kick." Some Mr. Milligan objects to my suggestion that saving wood is a dreary occupation, and says in his refined manner "there are 'kicks' who would consider the care of an eight-day clock a dreary chore." Here's one guy that would, but of course I am one of those who would not obtain any intellectual nourishment from saving wood. If the acerbity of Mr. Milligan's wit is any criterion, he evidently did. No doubt he considers me foolish for suggesting that he should aspire to something better than to be mere "hewers of wood and drawers of water," and it is so nice to know that he is tremendously tickled with the idea of college student buying in on the pack horse job of the longshoremen. A college education is so useful for that sort of thing, although perhaps one may be pardoned for wondering how it is that college students are available for that form of labor. No doubt Mr. Milligan can tell us! In conclusion might I suggest that Mr. Milligan give his views on the matter in question to the longshoremen and loggers "who will lose their jobs"—in person? He might get a "tremendous kick" out of that too—"vis a tergo," as my old Latin master used to say.

Manion, Minister of Railways in the Ottawa Government, stated in his testimony before the Royal Commission of Inquiry into the problems of the transportation systems of Canada, that the Canadian Pacific Railway was suffering from an unwieldy capital structure, and shrinkage in earnings, and that C.P.R. may never again pay a dividend.

In view of these facts, what right has the Dominion Government to pledge the people of Canada (without their consent) to a loan of $60,000,000, for and on behalf of a company which was not considered a good enough risk by the banks?

This is indeed a very dangerous precedent and by virtue of the same kind of reasoning it could very well be argued that this policy should be made retroactive to embrace the bondholders of the Grand Trunk Pacific who loaned their good money just as legitimately as the banks, but they were not paid, and the credit of the country was not ruined as a consequence.

Mr. Bennett was very wrathful in the House when the sweepstakes bill was under consideration, and expressed himself both emphatically, to the effect, that the people should not be permitted to gamble—not even a dollar. Yet, he gambles a cool $60,000,000 of the people's money, without their consent! By what right does he thus presume? With all due respect, I doubt very much whether this particular measure would stand the test of a Privy Council appeal, but, I do feel certain that posterity will never recognize any such obligation, and rightly so, for it is an unwarranted imposition, and abuse of public confidence, and no government on earth has the moral right to involve its people in a responsibility of this character.

To-morrow is a strain
Who sings with hope's own voice,
And bids you, putting care aside,
For thoughts of her, rejoice!
To-morrow is the fairest
Of all time's varied brood,
Days may be false, days may be true,
This day is ever good!
So why look back with sorrow
To dark days, past and done?
To-morrow's but one night away,
And shining like the sun!
Take heart of cheer, you weary,
Who cover in default
Look up, to-morrow is so near,
You hear its dancing feet!
You may be striped and starving,
You may be old and poor;
But all to-morrow's golden store
Will wait you at your door!

Little Cripples Find Happiness and Cures At Queen Alexandra Solarium

Atmosphere Of Home In Institution

Loving Care of Experts and Sun Rays at Island Beauty Spot Bring Recoveries to Tiny Sufferers

"No, I don't want to go home,
I think I'd sooner stay here. I like it here."

No greater tribute could be paid to the efforts of officials and directors of the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay than the words spoken by Little Marie, not more than twelve years old,
who has been a patient in Vancouver Island's famous home for crippled children for four years.

The response was made by the child when asked by a Times representative if she wanted to go to her home in Kelowna. She will leave in about a month and a half, cured from a long illness by the fresh air and healthy treatments given her by the staff of the institution.

That word institution hardly correctly describes the Solarium. From a business man's standpoint it is an institution—a firm that needs money for the continuance of its operation—but to visit the Solarium and walk through the various wards and hear the happy voices of the fifty children that are now being cared for there, one understands it—not as an institution—but as a happy home for children where every effort is directed towards their happiness and at the same time the best of treatments are instituted into daily routines to return them to their homes for play with their companions.

NO FINER WORK

Surely there can be no finer work in the universe than that to which Dr. Cyril Wace and his Solarium staff are devoting their efforts. One can not realize this until he goes through the buildings. The devotion which the staff feels towards the children is remarkable. Only the eyes can tell the tenderness which the nurses feel for the youngsters, many of whom have been crippled since birth, as they go about their duties and prepare little surprises for the patients to insure their happiness while separated from their parents.

Little inexpensive surprises, it is true, but insignificant though they may seem to the outsider, they add wonderfully to the entertainment of the children who sometimes look forward for days to a ride with the superintendent, Miss R. A. Stone, along the Island Highway for a mile or two.

LOVE THEIR SUPERINTENDENT

Miss Stone has been in charge of the little ones since the Solarium was opened eight years ago. Certainly no better choice could have been made for the position. Each of the children has a nickname, and a little story about each is told as the visitor is conducted through the building. And these stories bring happy smiles to their faces, an essential factor in making them realize that their stay is more of a holiday than a hospital treatment. The sunny and patient disposition which Miss Stone possesses has made her one of the most valued members of the staff and has endeared her not only to every one of her charges, but to the officials responsible for conducting the affairs of the Solarium.

Dr. Wace is invaluable with his ability to care for these tiny unfortunate. At present he is in England visiting orthopedic hospitals and attending lectures to further add to his extensive knowledge of the best methods for child treatment.

The Solarium equipment is some of the finest of its kind in North America. Artificial limbs are made in the work shop by P. C. Morris and his assistant, Mr. Morris has developed a patent for the construction of celluloid braces for the kiddies, which are a vast improvement over the more widely used metal type.

For such cases as spinal ailments these braces work wonders. They are not nearly as heavy as those formerly used and yet serve their purpose far more efficiently by allowing the patients free use of their limbs or body to strengthen their tissues as healing develops.

In the physio-therapist department, conducted by Miss G. Hastings, ultra-violet and infra-red rays are used for massaging, and with excellent effect.

NATURE'S TREATMENT

The crowning feature, of course, of the Solarium is its situation. Built on the sea, the patients can breathe the benefits of Nature's fresh salt air, and during the summer months treatments are given in the concrete swimming pool, constructed at the foot of the property on the waterfront.

There are three buildings; the one housing the various wards, the nurses' home, and the workshop. The inside staff, in addition to Dr. Wace and Miss Stone, includes two postgraduate nurses, seven assistants and two probationers. The wards are never left, night or day, by the nurses. In the workshop, besides the newly-developed celluloid work, casts and artificial limbs of aluminum are made.

The Solarium is maintained on a strictly business basis, and is governed by a board of directors, consisting of some of the city's leading business men. Since it was built in 1926, it has turned out more than 400 cured patients and the cost of operations in this time has been an average of less than $50,000 a year.

It depends almost entirely upon public subscriptions for its continuance, for not more than 10 per cent is paid for services rendered. Yet no child, regardless of race or creed, is ever turned down. To-day there are two Chinese, one Indian and a Serb receiving treatments with forty-six Canadians. Discrimination is unheard of, and all are treated alike, for they are all children, and in the hearts of that wonderful staff are

The swimming pool for treatments and fun.

Lessons just like other youngsters for m part of day's programme.

The Solarium as it is seen fr om the Mill Bay side.

little ones seeking the fortune which they have been denied in life—the fortune of good health.

SCHOOLING INCLUDED

Work at the Solarium is by no means restricted to medical treatments as many persons believe. The routine includes schooling and practical instruction in Boy Scout craft and Girl Guide work.

For seven years there has been a properly organized grade and kindergarten school in charge of teachers employed by the provincial department of education. This school naturally differs greatly from others in the province. Classes are held in the wards where the children attend in beds and wheel chairs. There are of necessity many interruptions during the day's lessons when the little ones are taken out for treatment, but in spite of these obstacles distinct benefits have been shown from the schooling. Considerable time is also devoted to teaching many of the girls handiwork.

During the present year the department of education and the directors of the Solarium sanctioned the showing of educational pictures in the playground. These are presented once every two months by Douglas Pittsford, whose excellent library of moving pictures imparts considerable general knowledge of their native
Canada to the youngsters.

SCOUT AND GUIDE WORK

Scout and Guide work is enthusiastically entered into by the children.
Clifford Newell, the first enrolled scout of the Solarium troop, who recently returned to act as assistant to Mr. Morris in the work shop, does much towards encouraging the younger boys on in this work, and as an example of the keen interest taken last year's annual report states seventeen boys passed through the troop.

Seven girl guides were also put through in 1933, and of these one is now a lieutenant in Vancouver, one is in Regina and a third is guiding in Hankow, China. The others are all members of active companies or attached to a company of "Lone Girls."

TESTIMONIALS OF WORK

Appreciation of the efforts of the Solarium staff are contained in innumerable letters filed in the superintendent's office. The following excerpts give some idea of the high regard with which the Solarium treatment is held:

"Dear Miss Stone:—Just a line in praise of the wonderful treatment our dear little girl, Verna, received at the Solarium. We are certainly pleased to see such an improvement in her condition."

"I am keeping her as much as possible to the Solarium routine. She never misses her rest period and is able to get plenty of fresh air and sunshine now as the weather is real nice and we have a large lawn."

"Thanks again and again for all kindness shown Verna. She speaks about you all so often that I feel I know you real well..."

"Dear Miss Stone:—Really and truly I'm ashamed of myself for not writing more. I just hate to write the kids, 'cause I should have written long ago. I hope they won't be mad at me..."

"You know I'd just love to come back to the Solarium and stay for a week or so. I'd just love to see all the kids again, as well as the nurses."

Gee, it would be a keen place to spend the holidays..."

"Dear Miss Stone:—I guess you are wondering why Annie did not write sooner. She has had a very bad cold, but did not wheeze, so I am very pleased to see her so well..."

"She certainly loves the Solarium and tells me how lovely it is there with the view of the sea and lovely flowers. She says when she grows up she will try and get a job from Dr. Wace..."

"The Solarium has done her an awful lot of good. Annie said all the people she met were nice to her and,
Miss Stone, I appreciate very much what you and Dr. Wace and the staff have done for Annie. She appears to be healthy and is looking very good..."

ZONING BY-LAW CHANGE REFUSED

Zoning regulations of Oak Bay, particularly in the residential areas are to be strictly maintained and the municipal council refuses to allow the construction of business stands in these districts. It was intimated yesterday when an application to build a new service station in the municipality was turned down.

The council received a letter from Gillespie, Hart and Todd, requesting re-zoning of property situated on the east side of Beach Drive, near where it touches McNeill Bay, immediately opposite the northeast corner of Sunrise Avenue. It was stated the client was desirous of building a service station there as there was a certain amount of inconvenience since the nearest stores and service stations were on Newport and Oak Bay Avenues.

The council, rejecting the plea, pointed out that the last time the by-law was amended there were strenuous objections.

U.S. Congress Asked To Vote Great Sum

Roosevelt Requests $1-
322,000,000 to Taper
Off Emergency Recovery
Schemes

Washington, May 15.—President
Roosevelt asked the United States Congress to-day for $1,322,000,000 to taper off the emergency recovery expenditures during the coming government year.

The main portion of the fund—$940,906,000—was assigned by the President for general relief and public works purposes. He asked discretionary power to use it as demands required.

Out of this, however, he has tagged $100,000,000 for road construction, $40,000,000 for starting the navy shipbuilding programme, $48,000,000 for the Tennessee Valley authority, $35-000,000 for public buildings construction and $5,000,000 for the inter-American highway.

The appropriation would increase the government debt to the all-time peak of $31,834,000,000 at June 30, 1935, as fixed in the two-year budget
submitted to Congress in January.

ON NEW BASIS

Pointing to pay-as-you-go basis for the 1936 fiscal year, the President warned in his message to-day:

"The present estimates should be sufficient as a whole to take care of the emergencies of relief and of orderly re-employment at least until the early part of the calendar year 1936. If at that time conditions have not improved as much as we hope to-day, the next Congress will be in session and will have full opportunity to act."

To-day's appropriation request com-

Famous horses burned to death... Churchill Downs razed... The Kentucky Derby called off... Those were some of the wild and unfounded rumors which spread among sportsmen gathered in Louis-out at Churchill Downs. The flames, shown above at their height, destroyed two barns but, neither injured nor even ruffled the temperaments of any of the Derby entries in the vicinity.

pletes the $3,166,000,000 emergency recovery fund proposed for the 1934-1935 fiscal years in the Roosevelt budget of January.

To-day's estimate also takes care of extra appropriations voted by this Congress, including added allowances for veterans and government salaries.

MOVE AGAINST JAY-WALKING

By-law Passed to Prevent Careless Crossing of Douglas Street

Federations in the habit of ignoring the policy of crossing streets at intersections may no longer follow their practice on Douglas Street between Johnson and Fort Streets. Yesterday evening the City Council passed a special by-law prohibiting jay-walking on Douglas Street between the two other thoroughfares as a test safety measure. The by-law may be the forerunner of several more which will make the pedestrian stick to traffic ethics when he or she wishes to cross one of the downtown streets. It also provided for the erection of a stop sign at the foot of Verinder Avenue at Oak Bay Junction and on the recommendation of Alderman James Adam will incorporate another stop sign at the corner of Pembroke and Cook Streets.

REJECT CITY BOND TENDERS

Council Not Satisfied With Bids For $231,000 Re-funding Issue

Tenders submitted for the $231,000 City of Victoria fifteen-year sinking fund debentures were all rejected on the recommendation of the finance committee at yesterday evening's meeting of the City Council. Attached to the recommendation that they be rejected were the tenders which the finance committee considered too indefinite and unsatisfactory in rates. The tenders were called last week on the issue scheduled to take care of bonds maturing this year. The council also approved a vote of $250 to the Salvation Army and $5,000 on account to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

SEEK TALK ON SEWERS

Alderman J. D. Hunter Asks Action From Saanich to Remedy Conditions

Altering his original motion, which aimed to secure the intervention of the provincial health officer, to one seeking the co-operation of Saanich with Victoria in remedying the sewage menace at the northwest boundary of the city, Alderman J. D. Hunter brought again to the fore a discussion of the absence of sewer facilities in the northern municipality at the City Council's meeting yesterday evening. His resolution read as follows: "That the attention of the municipal council of Saanich Municipality be drawn to the very unsatisfactory conditions in respect of the disposal of sewage from premises in Saanich which exist at various points on the Victoria-Saanich boundary and are deprecated by this council in the interest of the public health; and that the Saanich Council be requested to take this whole matter under advisement and favor the City Council as soon as possible with information as to whether or not it intends to take any steps in the direction of remedying the said conditions, and if prepared to give the situation attention."

"AN EYE TO THE FUTURE - AN EAR TO THE GROUND"

—this describes General Motors' policy, a policy by which the public is given what it wants in better cars year after year, and yet is safely protected against ill-timed or dubious experiments

Before you sign the Order..

BEFORE the order is signed, the wise purchaser of a new automobile verifies the facts about the company behind the car—and its responsibility towards owners.

These facts seldom appear in the specification sheets, or in the catalogues and advertisements. In some cases, the inquiring buyer runs up against a dictatorial attitude or one of indifference.

But General Motors is always frank to acknowledge its obligation to serve the customer in the way that the customer wants to be served.

The first job of General Motors, as we see it, is steadily to give the public what it wants in better cars.

The second job is to protect buyers of our cars against experiments of doubtful utility or doubtful value.

The third, to make efficient service and genuine replacement parts conveniently available to every owner at low cost.

All three imply the need for experience—stability—progressive engineering—organization on a nation-wide scale. And in all of these, General Motors is unequalled in the industry.

These jobs are made easier, also, by our fixed habit of taking nothing for granted.

Just as we test our cars on the greatest proving grounds in the world, so we test our ideas on the Proving Ground of Public Opinion.

Through the answers of 60,000 Canadians to our annual Customer Questionnaires, we checked our new designs against what the public wanted.

That is why our 1934 General Motors Cars, with their Streamlined Beauty, Knee-Action Wheels and No-Draft Ventilation are riding the crest of popular favor.

We saw to it, months before production, that our cars as well as our policies could withstand your closest scrutiny and closest comparison before you sign the order.

MOTHER'S DAY STAMP PLAYED

New U.S. Issue Described as "Three-cent Mockery" and
"Caricature"

Canadian Press
New York, May 15.—Various opinions are being expressed in print here by correspondents, male and female, of the local press, in regard to the new Mother's Day Stamp. A man writes:

"In the new Mother's Day Stamp the government is guilty of a flagrant violation of an artist's creation (which, if we had in this country a half-decent copyright law, would be impossible) and has turned a masterpiece into a three-cent mockery."

"Add to this three other counts of well-nigh equal guilt, to wit: an execrable example of engraving, pandering to mawkish sentimentality and aiding and abetting what is a thinly disguised flattery racket."

"A Disgusted Citizen" is heard from in similar vein: "It is said that the recently issued United States postage stamp for Mother's Day, which amounts to a caricature of the artist's beautiful and touching portrait of his mother, was first submitted to our President for inspection and approval.

"Our President thinks he can improve on Whistler, and he certainly has the 'improvement' complex badly. Is there anything our President can keep his hands off?"

SAANICHTON

Members of the North Saanich branch of the Canadian Legion entertained their wives and lady friends at a social recently in the Orange Hall, Saanichton. Miss Charlotte, a winner in the Victoria Musical Festival, sang her winning selection and other numbers. Mr. Lyall, of North Saanich, contributed selections and also led in community singing. Miss Copthorne also rendered several solos, the accompanists for the evening being Miss Lyall and Miss Lowe.

The Mt. Newton High School choir, under the direction of Miss Charlotte, gave selections. The concert was followed by a buffet supper, and dancing was enjoyed.

The Saanich Pioneers' Society held a cribbage party at the Log Cabin Wednesday evening, with nine tables in play. Miss Lena Anderson and W. Bray were the prize winners. At the conclusion of the game, refreshments were served. The next game will be held May 30.

TELLS HISTORY ARCHITECTURE

Sylvia G. Holland, Only Qualified Woman in Canada, Addresses Club

"Architecture is intimately bound up with our lives and with our history. A fine race produces a fine architecture and, conversely, the decadence of a race can be traced in its architecture, as for instance in the decline of the Roman empire, the decadence of its people can be distinctly seen in the buildings of the period."

This was one of the interesting statements made by Sylvia G. Holland, the only qualified woman architect in Canada, in the course of an intensely interesting address before the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, of which she is a member, at its supper meeting yesterday evening in the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. H. M. Hall, the president, was in the chair.

AESTHETIC SIDE
Defining architecture as the "advance model of the building needs of the next generation," Mrs. Holland drew attention to its aesthetic side. A building must be properly constructed, suited for the purpose for which it is intended, must give pleasure by its proportions and lines, and must express its function and climate in its appearance.

In this connection she deplored the tendency to transport California mission styles to the Pacific northwest. Such styles were unsuited to the climate here; they called for a central patio and for materials and colors which did not fit in with local conditions, she claimed.

FUNCTIONAL PURPOSES
The speaker traced the history of architecture through three eras or phases, as expressed in their functional purposes, namely shelter, defence and culture. Primitive man who contrived a shelter against the wind and the cave man who adapted a cave to afford protection against wild animals, were the forerunners of the architect of today.

Then came the defence period, when castles and other fortified structures were built in early and medieval times as a protection against human enemies. Then as civilization progressed and conditions became safer, the cultural side found room for development.

Mrs. Holland spoke of the beauty of early Grecian architecture, and later that of the Roman empire, which, however, showed unmistakable signs of decadence when the decline of the empire set in. Its beauty was later revived at the time of the Renaissance.

It was in the Elizabethan era that the first evidence of domestic architecture was forthcoming. Corn markets, town halls and similar public buildings followed, calling for skilled craftsmen and architecture had steadily developed until it had reached its present stage.

The speaker refuted as a fallacy the oft-expressed belief that women should make fine architects in the domestic field because of their instinct for home-making. To become an architect calls for high specialized training in subjects which cover a wide field, she observed, but there was no reason why, with such training, women should not make first-class architects, especially as they generally had an innate sense of beauty.

Mrs. Holland recalled many entertaining incidents and personalities of her student days at the London School of Architecture. Miss Elizabeth Scott, a fellow student, had made the prize-winning design for the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre in the face of competition from British architects all over the world, and that when she was only twenty-nine.

Miss Foxall expressed the thanks of the gathering to Mrs. Holland for her delightful address. Miss Phyllis Dea-ville, a recent Festival winner, gave much pleasure with her two solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Margaret Stewart.

FIRST WOMAN JOURNALIST

Montreal Veteran Claims Distinction; Miss Maria

Canadian Press
Montreal, May 15.—Mrs. Kate Massiah of this city, writing to The Standard in reference to the claim an American, Mrs. Anne Roy-All, was not only the first woman journalist, but the first of her sex to own and edit a newspaper, and the first professional "interviewer" of either sex, states she began in October, 1871, on The Montreal Herald, and was interviewing from that date till 1878, when she was married.

In 1898 to 1902 I was editor and proprietor of The Independent, Lachute, and before that in 1878 was assistant editor of The Lachute Watchman. In 1878 I reported in Ottawa the proceedings of the House of Commons from the Speaker's Gallery, including the debates on the National Policy.

LADY HAIG TO LEAVE HOME

Field Marshal's Widow Unable to Keep Up "Bemer-syde" Estates

Edinburgh, Scotland, May 15.—The Countess Haig, widow of the field-marshal, revealed yesterday her greatest comfort in the days following Earl Haig's death was to sit by his statue in Edinburgh Castle and visit the shrine there.

Because of the tremendous upkeep attached to the great Bemerseyde estates the Countess has accepted the offer of their Majesties to reside in Hampton Court Palace, and she left Scotland today.

In a farewell message she said she was leaving with great regret, and was especially sorry to leave Edinburgh, "with all its beautiful memories."

TOO EXPENSIVE
"When the nation so generously gave Bemerseyde to my late husband, it required considerable improvement," said Lady Haig. "He spent large sums on it."

"After he died I carried on the improvements which he had started, but unfortunately it required such a lot of money."

"I feel I can no longer carry on following the heavy expenditure; so I am closing it and it will be used only for summer holidays."

"I am returning in June to manage the museum."

WONDERFUL MUSEUM
"It will be a wonderful place. Documents, including the famous 'Backs to the wall' message, and my husband's war decorations, uniforms, and robes, which I have had to lock away all these years, will be shown. From the small admission money which will be charged, I hope to get something which will help me to maintain the house."

"I am glad I am going to London. I want to hear my son who is sixteen and going to Sandhurst."

"We will never give up Bemerseyde. I only hope a time will come when we may be able to return there permanently."

Metropolitan Parsonage Tea.—The programme arranged in connection with the tea to be held at the Metropolitan Parsonage on Thursday afternoon under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid is being convened by Mrs. M. Morton, who has arranged a delightful variety of vocal, instrumental and elocution numbers by well known local talent.

Victoria W.I.—The regular meeting of the Victoria Women's Institute will be held on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at 254 Yates Street. An address on "Motherhood" will be given. As this is guest day the members are invited to bring friends. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested. On Tuesday, May 22, at 2:15 o'clock, there will be held a court bridge party at the above address.

Silver Tea.—A silver tea will be held to-morrow at the home of Miss Edith King, 1420 Begbie Street, from 3 to 5:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the Misphep Court, Order of the Aramant. Mrs. Sadie Hood and Mrs. McCloy will be co-hostesses. A home-cooking stall will be one of the attractions. It is hoped there will be a large attendance of members and friends.

Alumnae to Hold Bridge Luncheon
Under the auspices of the Jubilee Hospital Alumnae, a home products luncheon will be held at the Hudson's Bay on Friday, May 18, at 1 p.m. Following this, there will be bridge for which prizes have been donated. Owing to limited accommodation, those wishing to attend should notify Mrs. J. H. Russell, G. 5119, for reservations.

Mrs. Marion Atkinson, who is responsible for the training of the choir, sang as a solo, "King of Love" (Gounod). The accompanist was Miss Christine Schmeltz.

TEMPERAMENT IS EXPENSIVE

Serge Lifar Declines to Dance With Ballerina; Must Pay £660

Canadian Press from Havre
London, May 15.—Contrasts and contrasts of dollars are mere bagatelles to Serge Lifar, temperamental Russian dancer, compared with having to dance with Miss Markova. This "artistic incompatibility" had cost him £660 to-day.

He signed a £100 contract to dance in a West End theatre. Discovering, however, that he was to be billed to dance with Miss Markova, who had been previously engaged, he promptly called it off.

"But," remonstrated the theatre manager, "you are tied up with a contract."

"I am Lifar," came the reply. "Contracts don't trouble me." The director had to reimburse the "house" that came to see Lifar dance. He then sued Lifar, who was ordered to pay £660.

TRY TO FIND CAUSE OF TEMPER
TANTRUMS

There is a bit of well advertised advice that children who have spells of temper tantrums should be left alone. This is on the theory that a child does not enjoy shooting off these emotional fireworks in solitude. He will eventually cease exhibiting temper tantrums if his every exhibition is followed immediately by exclusion from the family circle.

HAS TO BE CAUSE
While this is, in general, good advice, it treats the symptom but not the cause. Children do not have temper tantrums for no reason at all. And there are many different reasons why they do have them. In difference is a sensible method of dealing with temper tantrums temporarily, but their control and cure will come only when we discover why the child resorts to them. Write for my leaflet, "Analysis of Obedience and Punishment," enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Quite often the child who goes into a tantrum over every effort to control or manage him has learned the efficacy of this behavior. He has learned that if he cries long enough, the adults about him succumb and he will get his way. The spoiled child is invariably a tempery one, and we can guess that the spoiling so accustoms the child to his own way that he resorts to tantrums when there is any opposition to his desires.

At the opposite extreme we find the helpless child, who is over-protected, over dominated, over-reg-ment until he files into a temper tantrum as the only behavior which no one can control and dominate.

RESTRICTION
Physical factors may lead the infant to have temper tantrums. It is natural for him to rebel against physical restrictions. These may be too tight clothes, annoyingly affectionate adults, too small a bed, tight bed clothing, bands, binders or diapers that restrict the child's freedom of motion. These may seem small things in an adult's eyes, but the infant dislikes physical imprisonment of all kinds.

Fatigue may cause spells of temper. Adults "fly off the handle" when tired and consider this a legitimate excuse for their actions. Temper tantrums may mean nothing except that the child has to do something dramatic to attract the parent's attention. "Main as soon as he be the case when there are several children in a family and all of them do not get an equal share of the mother's attention."

In dealing with tantrums the real purpose is to discover why the child must act in this disagreeable manner. Once this is determined, the treatment may be directed at a removal of the cause.

THE Lone Wolf's Son

By Louis Joseph Vance

"One is to understand you are well acquainted here?"

"With this dump? Only like I am with the palms of my hand." The man slouched down in his chair, of- fered cigarettes, and when Maurice politely declined, lighted one for him- self. "Why wouldn't I be? Don't I live here?"

"You live here?"

"I bet you my life. Anything funny about that?"

"Only, I daresay, to one accus- tomed as I am to look at such matters from a European viewpoint. To me, I confess, it seems curious that a wage-earner should be able to afford American hotel tariffs. I can only infer that the difference between your wage scale and ours accounts for it, monsieur."

The guard, sitting with his head bowed at a quizzical angle, and giving his ironical grin full play again, permitted a surprising volume of smoke to drain off through his nostrils before replying to Maurice.

"Ain't tryin' to kid me or any thing, are you, fella?"

"But I do not know you well enough to test with you on personal matters."

To this, after another instant of silent speculation, the guard returned with a wag of a defeated head.

"All I can say is, one of us is all wet."

A good natured shrug conveyed that Maurice was content to let that pass. If his course in the American vernacular under Tess Boyce was incomplete, it had yet to put him on speaking terms with "all wet," the tone rang true to the guard's general attitude with him.

Odd, that—with four people in there, and a door between that looked anything but soundproof, Maurice frowned, got up, and moved to the window. His view of a segment of New York by night might at any other time have inter- ested him; now it diverted his mind not at all. He turned back, aware that eyes alive with malice were following him, and to stave off a resumption of amenities, he stopped at a telephone stand and took up the directory. Simple curiosity prompted him to look for his listings under "Gotham," and having done so, he thoughtfully replaced the book and looked again to the guard.

"Isn't it strange that the Gotham Safe Deposit Company should have no telephone connection?"

"Maybe," his representative al- lowed.

"But its administration must have an office—"

"Says you."

"What does that mean? I said no more than is obvious. Do you mind telling me where the office is?"

"All in your eye, fella—all in your eye."

"Forgive me if I fail to follow you." "That's all right."

The liberality of this assurance was offset by intimation of mockery broader than any yet and of an intention to explain the anomaly away. And of a sudden, exas- perated, Maurice faced about, strode to the bedchamber door and thumped it with peremptory knuckles.

No answer.

He knocked again, looked back to see the other covering him with a glimmer of lary amusement—and last all out of patience—laid hold of the knob and threw the door wide.

The guard at the same time sat forward to grind out the coal of his tobacco on the tray. A burst of French expletives behind him had no effect on his display of phlegm; only when the boy flung back to catch him with hot eyes in a face bleached by passion, did he consent to put on a look of innocent astonishment.

"Where are they? There's nobody in that room! What does this mean? Where have they taken Fenno?"

"The Crozier kid? She's all right." A shake, dislodged Maurice's hand. Don't sweat yourself so, fella, and don't be so gay with your miffs, or somebody's liable to crown you. Sit down and bent it off and have a drink. Nobody's goin' to do you dirt. The 17 dame's been took good care of, and so are the emeralds. All you got to do is sit tight and wait until they come. You'll get your cut when the time comes."

Maurice survived a moment when he felt he must struggle for inability either to contain or to give tongue to his rage. Unconsciously he put up a hand to ease the blind of his collar, dislodged Maurice's hand. I should have suspected—I might have known—

"You ought to've." The man in- stead gave a sympathetic nod. "I said it was a shame not to tin you off, but the crowd was afraid of how you'd handle, afraid you'd r'ar back on us, maybe, and paw the air and spoil the show before we got you gentled. They claimed the bunch that crossed with you knew their business, and if they hadn't seen fit to put you up, it was better we should put the job through first and let you work your mad off when it was too late."

"So this was it," the boy mumbled in a stare, "that's the explanation?"

"Sho, sho! We got the works by wireless soon's you and that guy took off from the ship, and I'm here to tell you that didn't give us too much time to get everything all set."

CHAPTER XXIV

"I have to thank the Boyce," said Maurice.

"Who? Tess? All she done was let out what you promised her last night. Don't go packin' no grouse against that dame—it was Fenno who set us first how old Fay Crozier was phoned the minute the message came into his office."

"What's the matter with that? Way you take on, a person'd think this was the first case of a trusted em- ployee not bein' on the up and up. 'By, that fish's been feedin' out of our hands ever since he fell for a night club moll and started playin' the ponies with Crozier's dough so he could slip her presents a guy on his pay couldn't afford."

"But Fenno will think it was I—"

"Say she does. Is she goin' to think any worse of you than she would if he'd held back and trusted you to take the emeralds your own way?"

"I would have managed so that she would never have suspected—"

"Un-huh! I get you. The Lone Wolf's father, and Papa's boy simply couldn't pull a honest. That's good here, fella; but the rest of this push ain't had my advantages, like gettin' to know you so intimate and all. It's one hard-boiled moll, if anyone should ask you, and don't never take no chances."

The man took time to light another cigarette, and Maurice in the wait was conscious of the noise of his own labored breathing and the mumble of his heart. The face that he strove to read through its set, swam in the smoke like a devil-mask in a mist. And with an abrupt gesture that confessed help-

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel"

WEDNESDAY, MAY 16, 1934

Benefic aspects rule strongly to-day, according to astrology. The planetary govern- ment encourages investments. It is predicted that real estate will attract par- ticular interest.

Persons who wield authority are well directed, but the stars encourage decentral- ization of power. Executives of many classes are to be curtailed in various ways.

Happy to-day are those who till the soil, since agriculture is to gain greatly in the summer of 1934, if the signs are rightly read.

Gardening will be more popular and more fashionable than ever in the United States. Landscaping artists and the future of the industry should be bright.

Industry should benefit to-day, since the stars presage gradual stabilizing of many conditions hitherto disturbing to workers.

This is read as a fortunate day for educators. As vacation days draw near, heads of universities and their faculties will receive honors of an unusual order. It is indicated. Under this way the public mind should be soothed.

This should be an auspicious time to interview bankers, for financiers are sub- ject to influences favorable to the making of loans.

It should also be a good time to sign contracts and leases. Actors should ben- efit especially.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the support of a year of security and success.

Both men and women have the best pos- sible prospects.

Children born on this day probably will be intellectually gifted. Subjects of this sign usually have artistic and creative talents and mental vigor.

Elizabeth Penabaz, noted educator, was born on this day, 1884. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include William B. Ewald, statesman, 1861; Levi P. Morton, financier, 1828; and Honore de Balzac, French novelist, 1802.

HEAVY TASK FOR COMMONS

Legislation Still to Be Introduced Outlined by Premier Bennett

Ottawa, May 15.—A heavy pro- gramme of government legislation yet to be laid before the House of Com- mons was discussed to-day when Prime Minister Bennett announced that three measures, including the public works bill, would be ready for introduction this week.

Mr. Bennett said the public works bill, the bill to amend the Elections Act and the measure dealing with the scheme to ease the debt and interest burdens of farmers would be placed on the order paper this week.

Three other measures, the Prime Minister said, might arise from pas- sage of the banking legislation which is still in the hands of the banking and commerce committee, and which would not be introduced until that committee had been disposed of in Commons.

Some amendments would be made to the Criminal Code, but they would be left to the last, so that full ad- vantage might be taken of the sug- gestions that are customary sent to the government during a session of Parliament.

A bill to consolidate the Excise Act would be introduced in time to have it considered at the same time the budget resolutions were being dealt with.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

PERHAPS the largest team of women athletes that ever took an overseas jaunt for competitive purposes will represent Canada at the British Empire Games in August in London. Miss Alexandra Gibb, that busy Toronto sports writer, who will manage the team, is hopeful there will be twenty or twenty-five girls on the track and field squad. It seems there is very difficulty getting money than a couple of years ago when Miss Gibb led a compact team of nine to the Los Angeles Olympiad. There is also the prospect that Canada will turn loose a stronger team this year than ever before. Miss Gibb is the one who believes it will be stronger.

"I hate to be optimistic so early," she said, "because it might bring bad luck. But I feel sure this year's team will make a wonderful showing, not only in the Empire games but in the women's world games at London that take place immediately afterwards. I think we should win four Empire championships."

Two months before the Canadian trials at London, Ont., will decide the team's personnel, Miss Gibb rates eight girls as outstanding sprinters on their records, three as prospective hurdlers and two as very possible high jump winners. "And we are always finding new stars," she remarked.

The eight sprint stars are Hilda Stride, Montreal; Betty White and Audrey Dearling, Hamilton; Mary Prizell and Lillian Palmer, Vancouver; Ellen Meigher, Halifax; Beatrice Gillespie, Edmonton, and Mildred Fizzell, Toronto. Miss Stride was the empire champion in that group Miss Gibb will be surprised.

She regards Miss Meigher and Miss Palmer as particularly promising performers. The Halifax girl was recently caught in 25.4 for the 100-yard race. The rest are over the 100-yard mark. Miss Stride was second at the last Olympic Games to Stella Walsh, Poland, and Mildred Fizzell recently was a hang-up second to the same Polish flash in the United States championships at New York.

"You know," observed the team boss, "we might place one or two in the hurdles. Maybe I'm too optimistic, but who do you think is going to beat Betty Taylor or Alda Wilson or Rosey Williams? Nobody has been beating this trio of late. Miss Taylor, Hamilton's pretty hurdler, has been stepping in world record time and track authorities believe she may be unbeatable this season. Mrs. Atkins recently brought the United States indoor title to Toronto. You can't place the tall Miss Wilson many strides off a level in either. She finished sixth in the last Olympic final and has since trounced more than once the girl who finished second in that race, Mrs. Evelyn Hall, Chicago.

Eva Dawes, Toronto, and Margaret Bell, Vancouver, Miss Gibb believes are rare-high jumpers. Both have bettered five feet two inches in competition. It may be a one-two for Canada at the empire carnival. The relay teams, including the galaxy of sprinters that will go to London, should be "just grand."

"Now if Bobby Rosenfeld will only go out for the javelin something we will be fixed," said Miss Gibb. "But Miss Rosenfeld is coaching this team. If she can find time perhaps the coach will pick up a javelinist that it would mean more points for Canada if she did."

Pavlo Nurm, the flying Finn, has spoken. Ever since he achieved fame, Nurm, one of the greatest runners the world has ever seen, has been questioned as to the reasons for his phenomenal successes on the track. Until now he has remained silent. Always sphinxlike, Nurm refused to be drawn.

At last he has spoken and his interview follows: "In the first place, I put the greatest possible faith in training," he said. "The more intensive and thorough the training the better were the results. When running I not only aim at winning, but endeavor to establish fresh ground each time. It was during my service in the army that I first began to run with a watch in my hand (Nurm's watch is familiar to all athletic enthusiasts), thus giving myself some idea as to how I was progressing in the race, and showing me when I ought to make my effort."

"Not many athletes adopt this excellent method and consequently few of them have any idea as to the progress they are making until too late in the race."

"In every race I carefully watch my most dangerous opponents even to the studying of their breathing. I pay as much attention to their breathing as a doctor would do to that of his patients. The moment a serious rival shows the least signs of distress, then I make an effort and usually leave him far behind."

"I have also made a point of studying the medical side of athletics, and have learned anatomy, organic chemistry and these medical facts which have to do with fatigue, sleep, method of living, etc."

"I make a point of preparing myself fully for all eventualities, and train according to the type of weather in which I have to perform."

"To take a case in point, during the 1924 Olympic games in Paris, I anticipated the possibility of tropical conditions, and by taking a rigorous course of hot steam baths of the Finnish type, gradually and systematically I insured myself to stand the most intense heat."

"Consequently when even spectators were collapsing and athletes had to be taken in numbers to hos-

THISTLES TO PLAY WESTS

Jackson Cup Soccer Semi-final at Athletic Park Tomorrow Evening

When Victoria West meet the Saanich Thistles in the semi-final of the Jackson Cup football series at the Athletic Park tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock the green shirts will field a weakened line-up it was learned to-day. The Wests will likely be without the services of Ray Barnes, stellar centre-half, who is suffering from an injured groin. Barnes was bothered by the injury in Saturday's match against Nanaimo, moving from centre-half to outside right, late in the second half.

Without Barnes the Wests would have a big hole to plug. He has been a tower of strength to the Wests all season, both on the attack and defence. In addition, it is understood the Wests will not be able to use any of their second division players in the game, owing to the fact that their second division team has already taken part in the competition. Just how the Wests will line-up tomorrow night is not known.

The Thistles will not doubt have their strongest available club on hand for this important match. The winner will advance to the final against Esquimalt, who gained the final by defeating the Wests' second division outfit.

In the last meeting between the Wests and Thistles the former scored a 1 to 0 victory. Tomorrow night's game will be refereed by Dave Swan. The Thistles will line-up as follows: Rowe, Gibbons, Baier, Williams, J. Crowe, Leggett, L. Gibbons, Morgan, C. Chapman, A. Chapman, E. Viggers, D. Teifer, D. Glancy, R. Mail, J. Noble and R. Brown.

The Finnish hot steam baths have taught me to breathe more easily under the most trying conditions. They also result in softer and more elastic muscles, ensure proper ventilation of the pores and generally facilitate blood circulation.

"They are the basis of all Finnish training and are generally responsible for the phenomenal stamina of my countrymen."

Entries for the Vancouver Island Tennis League were to close this evening at 6 o'clock. Any teams wishing to play who have not filed their forms can send them to Secretary Stan Holman, 796 Cook Street.

THE BIG SIX

Yesterday's rains, washing out all but three major league ball games, left Rollie Hemslay, St. Louis Browns' catcher, high and dry in the Big Six lead with an average of .481.

Only Carl Reynolds, of Boston Red Sox; Heinie Manush, of Washington Senators, and Kiki Cuyler, of Chicago Cubs, saw action among the leaders, and not one of them manufactured a hit.

Reynolds lost fourteen points to .412, while Cuyler, easing off twenty-three, and Manush, ten, dropped from among the top three in their respective leagues. The standings:

C. A. B. R. H. Hemslay, Browns, 14, 32, 7, 25, .481; Gehrig, Yankees, 8, 17, 10, 41, .476; Gehrige, Yankees, 23, 43, 22, 39, .469; Leslie, Dodgers, 24, 42, 14, 34, .462; P. Waner, Pirates, 24, 42, 14, 34, .462; Lee, Tigers, 19, 44, 10, 21, .379.

Box: Torry, Giants; Camilli, Cubs; one each.

The leaders—Klein, Cubs, 9; Gehrig, Yankees, 8; Ruth, Yankees, 7; Ott, Giants, 6; Hartnett, Cubs, 6; Fox, Athletics, 6; Johnson, Athletics, 6; Allen, Phillies, 6; Collins, Cardinals, 6.

Despite the agony he must have been in, White managed to scrawl a few lines to a girl as he was dying. "You are the one who is driving me to my grave," the note said. "I am dying, but I shall love you always. Your true love, Paul."

Before a small gallery that seemed to realize the drama in the situation, the mighty little Frenchman from Montreal sent Nunn spinning to defeat by scores of 6-3, 6-3, 7-5. It was the fourth straight triumph without loss of a set for Rainville in the trials for the Canadian Davis Cup team.

Primed for this contest ever since Nunn defeated him in the 1933 trials and was awarded a singles berth on the Canadian team, Rainville made no mistake about his comeback. Weeks of competitive play in the south made the job comparatively easy.

WATT VICTOR Laird Watt, Montreal, brilliant youngster, who Sunday handed Nunn his first defeat and put in a strong bid for a place on the team, kept up the pace yesterday by defeating George Leclerc, Ottawa, 6-4, 6-2. Bob Murray, Montreal, former Canadian junior champion, upset Gus Ryall, Vancouver, by scores of 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

The half-dons aspirants seemed to have fired most of their heavy artillery when Murray successfully staved off Ryall's challenge. Rainville will have to defeat Rainville to-day to show as good a record as the three most likely to be selected to accompany Walter Martin, Wimbledon, Del., for the Canada-United States matches.

The United States team, announced yesterday, is made up of Frank Shields, Lester Stoefer, George Lott and John Van Ryn. It seemed altogether probable the Canadian team would include Martin, Rainville, Watt and Nunn. Martin being the only certainty until definite announcements are made tomorrow.

RAINVILLE BRILLIANT With victories over Watt, Leclerc and Ryall on his record, Rainville needed only to whip Nunn to make it plain he is an outstanding challenger for one of the two singles jobs. Since the trials started last Friday, the French ace had not dropped a set.

Ryall gave Murray a terrific battle for two sets, but when the easterner captured the second to square the match, Ryall had very little left. He won only four games in the final two sets, while Murray turned in a stylish display.

Results of games played in various sections of the Victoria and District Softball League yesterday evening follow:

Maccabees 15, Victoria West Social Club 11. Fernwood Merchants 17, Esquimalt Merchants 9. Peacocks 11, Province 10. Painters 7, Sidney 9.

Rainville Wins Fourth Straight

Wrestler Takes Life By Drinking Poison

Winnipeg, May 15.—Paul Denalco, alias White, thirty-year-old Polish wrestler, and formerly known locally as the "masked marvel," drained a bottle of poison in a rooming house here yesterday. He died before anyone in the dwelling discovered the tragedy. He came here from Windsor, Ont.

Despite the agony he must have been in, White managed to scrawl a few lines to a girl as he was dying. "You are the one who is driving me to my grave," the note said. "I am dying, but I shall love you always. Your true love, Paul."

Busy Season Faces Local Track Stars

Complete Programme of Major Meets in British Columbia This Summer Announced by Gordon Woodbridge, Y.M.C.A. Team in Stiff Training

Digging their starting holes for what they hope will be a race finishing in the Canadian British Empire Games trials in Hamilton, Archie McKinnon's Flying Y runners will get away to an important season with a small meet against Brentwood College on Saturday.

The event will be a warm-up for the seniors who will run exhibition, but will offer competition for some of the juniors who appear to be good candidates for the Province Junior Olympics.

Word received here from Gordon Woodbridge, local representative of the amateur Athletic Union of Canada, British Columbia section, outlining a big programme for sprinters and high hurdles. McKinnon, along with other running mentors of Greater Victoria, plans to make every use of the events that have been lined up to bring his runners along for the major contests.

Joe Addison and Chuck Cunningham, facing what may be their biggest year in competition, will open their competitive work as part of the coast contingent which will run in Kelowna May 24 in one of the big meets of the year in the province. They will leave about May 22 for the interior jaunt, where Addison will run in the century dash, quarter mile and high hurdles. Cunningham will take in the half mile and mile, PASS UP TITLE EVENTS.

The Flying Y boys will pass up the British Columbia championships in Penitence on July 2 in order to avoid any chance of a crack up or over-exertion before the provincial Empire Games trials which will be run in conjunction with the Junior Olympics in Vancouver July 4 and 5.

According to the basic on which the British Columbia candidates will be selected, their times must qualify for the Canadian event before they will be sent east to compete. On that understanding, junior boys may run in the Province meet and, providing they show promise, will have a chance of making the British Columbia team for the eastern invasion.

Joe Addison, Joe Roberts and Chuck Cunningham will be the chief local hopes in the senior division, while Paul Rowe and Dick Surphils may be brought along to lead the junior contingent for the newspaper part of the programme.

Providing he is available, Bruce Humber, fleet youngster now running Frosh at the University of Washington, may be brought over for a chance to qualify in the sectional trials and entrain for Hamilton's Canadian trials on July 14 if he qualifies.

The Junior Olympics, the Province meet, has been organized by the Vancouver daily, and will be turned over to the provincial section of the A.A.U. of Canada, under the eye of Chuck Cunningham, a member of the Y.M.C.A. and one of the smartest sprinters the town boasted a year or two ago. Only junior talent will be used against the collegians, Dick Surphils, Jack Ferguson, Ben Vesey, Lorne McGregor, Jim Cousins and Paul Rowe forming the backbone of the team.

Brentwood's strength is still very much a matter of conjecture. Brentwood's strength is still very much a matter of conjecture. The Tod Inlet boys have been going through the senior division, while Chuck Cunningham, a member of the Y.M.C.A. and one of the smartest sprinters the town boasted a year or two ago. Only junior talent will be used against the collegians, Dick Surphils, Jack Ferguson, Ben Vesey, Lorne McGregor, Jim Cousins and Paul Rowe forming the backbone of the team.

Famous Southpaw Gives Fine Performance in Relief Role and Red Sox Hope to Go Places in the American League; Cubs Beat Giants Again

The stock of the Boston Red Sox, fading recently on the major league market, is rising again, and the reason is the same impetus that sent the Sox chances kiting in the first place, Lefty Robert Moses Grove.

For Robert Moses apparently is back in the pitching condition that won him ranking among the best left handers in baseball's history.

Lefty didn't win a ball game yesterday as rain drenched most of the major league circuit and cut the list of engagements to three, but he proved he has recovered from the sore arm that has been shrouding both him and Boston's populace in gloom since the first week of spring training.

Grove picked up the gauntlet against the Chicago White Sox, relieving Henry Johnson in the third inning with one out, the bases full, and the score 5 to 0 against Boston. The game ended with the score 8 to 2 in the White Sox favor and "Big Jarge" Barnshaw had won himself a fine four-hit victory.

GROVE'S FEAT
 But Grove accomplished the following: He allowed but three hits in six and two-third innings, walked one and fanned two. He was scored on twice before he got the side out in the sixth, through a walk and a force out. He allowed one run of his own making in the seventh when he dropped Eddie Morgan's toss to first base on a ground ball that would have retired the side after Al Simmons, another of the old A's had doubled. Grove finished easily.

Lon Warneke gathered in his fifth victory as the Chicago Cubs beat down the world champion New York Giants for the second straight day in a 3 to 2 ten-inning thriller that alone survived the rain in the National League.

With the count tied 1 to 1 going into the ninth Bill Terry gave young Hal Schumacher a one-run lead by belting a home run into the centre-field bleachers. Dolph Camilli, rookie first baseman, promptly got it back with another homer in the Cubs' half. Chuck Klein came up in the tenth with Warneke and Galan, through a walk, resting on first base. Klein's double promptly busted up the ball game.

Vic Sorrell, Detroit southpaw, snuffed out the Washington Senators from second place in the third game of the day, called because of rain after six innings. Al Crowder lasted less than two innings.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE
 Newark Bears, one of the International League's outstanding pennant contenders, were the victims of an apparent paradox to-day.

They had just succeeded in making the league-leading Rochester Red Wings bite the dust for the second time in as many days yet had dropped from second place in the standings. The Bears held a half-game lead over Toronto Maple Leafs by the won-and-lost method of figuring the standings but trailed the Leafs by two points in the percentage column.

Newark pounded Tony Kaufmann out of the box with a six-run rally in the second inning yesterday but lost to the Toronto Maple Leafs, 8 to 7. They added single runs in the third and fifth frames. A three-run rally in the seventh put the Red Wings back in the game.

Meanwhile Toronto nosed out the Syracuse Chiefs, 2 to 1, as Walter Hilcher allowed only three hits in a pitching duel with Jimmy McCloskey. Baltimore drove John Pomorski to cover in two innings but could do nothing at all with Orville Collier and Montreal came from behind to earn a 6 to 2 decision.

A home run by Ted Norbert and three singles by Fred Sington helped Albany score an easy 9 to 3 victory over Buffalo and regain sole possession of fifth place.

Scotty Campbell In Select Group

Seattle Linksman Qualifies For U.S. Open Golf Championship By Shooting Subpar 142 Over Portland Course; Phil Perkins Low Scorer

Portland, Ore., May 15.—Albert (Scotty) Campbell of Seattle and Ted Longworth of Portland to-day qualified for the Northwest district for the national open tournament.

Campbell, Pacific Northwest amateur shot sub-par golf with a 142 for the thirty-six holes to easily qualify as number one man. Par is 144.

Longworth earned 148 for the thirty-six holes.

Campbell's game was much stronger and surer than any of the other entrants. Though he three-putted four greens, his putting most of the way was near perfect. His best green shot was at the fifteenth hole on the second eighteen where he holed one from approximately twenty-five feet away.

Campbell posted a 36-37-73, one over par, for the first eighteen holes. In the afternoon his game strengthened and he came home with 36-33-69.

His opponent, Emory Zimmerman, had a 37-40-77 for the first eighteen holes and a 35-37-72 for the afternoon play.

Dr. O. F. Willing and Don Moss, two of Oregon's prominent golfers, did not enter the competition as neither would be able to make the trip should he qualify.

New York, May 15.—Low-scoring honors in the annual sectional trials for the United States open golf championship stood to-day to the credit of Thomas Philip Perkins, former British amateur champion and now professional at the Kirkland Country Club in Cleveland.

Phil put together a pair of 69s for a thirty-six-hole medal play total of 138 at the Shaker Heights Country Club in Cleveland yesterday to lead the entire country.

Two strokes back, with 140s, were Billy Burke, U.S. open champion in 1931, who also qualified in Cleveland, and Clarence Sherman, Eaglesmere, Pa., who led the field in the Philadelphia district.

105 QUALIFY
 All told, sectional trials in twenty-one districts qualified 105 golfers, including two Canadians, for the championship to be held at the Merion

Eight Feet Off the Ground

WON'T BE LONG
 Cricket Club, Armore, Pa., starting June 7. Five others previously had qualified in the Los Angeles district and thirty-six, either because they qualified among the low thirty and fifty in the last championship, or were members of the U.S. Walker Cup team, now abroad, were exempt from the sectional qualifications. That makes a total of 146 of the field of 150 at Merion. The other four await the completion of the Philadelphia district trial where darkness halted the test before all the returns were in.

The successful club swimmers in Canada were Jimmy Johnstone, Toronto, and Tommy Filmore, the hockeyman shotmaker.

Johnstone, competing in the Chicago district, put together rounds of 74-76 for 150. Filmore toured the Detroit-Meadowbrook course in 72 and 72 for 147.

FORMER CHAMPS OUT
 Five former champions failed to qualify.

Fred McLeod, who won the national open in 1908, failed to qualify in the Richmond district; George Sargent, who won in 1909, was among the also-rans at Atlanta, and Chick Evans, 1916 champion, at Chicago. Cyril Walker and William McFarlane, titleholders in 1924 and 1925, respectively, both were eliminated in the New York district, where the day's result also found Joe Turnesa and George Volz, former Walker Cup player, outside the qualifying limit.

Another well-known amateur, Maurice McCarthy Jr., was shut out in the Cleveland district.

New Secretary Is Football Problem

English Association Faced With Difficult Task to Replace Sir Frederick Wall, Who Has Resigned; Must Have Expert Knowledge of Game

London, May 15.—The Football Association have begun their task of finding a suitable successor to Sir Frederick Wall, who is resigning shortly after forty-three years as secretary of the association.

Anyone who knows anything about the work of the Football Association will realize how difficult it will be to fill the post.

But the secretaryship, with its commencing salary of £300 a year and a desirable residence, should be sufficiently attractive to claim the attention of men with the necessary qualifications, although probably most essential of these is a thorough knowledge of the game and its many ramifications.

Questions constantly reach headquarters regarding incidents on the field, and a secretary in touch with every phase of the sport can smooth the way to an amicable settlement without reference to a special committee.

Sir Frederick Wall, as an old player, knew all about the practical side of the game, and so found it easy to be of great assistance to club officials and referees.

MANY DETAILS
 On the business side of football, with its many and varied details, the new secretary should have inside knowledge of the working of a club and local association. Fortunately for him, the present secretary has built up at the office of the Football Association a smoothly running organization with a thoroughly efficient staff. Consequently, to a man of secretarial ability, much of the work will be cut and dried.

Sir Frederick's successor will have to have shrewdness, courtesy, strength of character and confidence if he is to bear favorable comparison with his famous predecessor.

Languages is one other qualification that should be of great assistance to the new secretary. With the vast growth of the game on the continent and the consequent interchange of visits, life will be much easier when the representatives of the Continental associations call.

IRISH LEAGUE
 A resolution by the Belfast Celtic Club that there should be no closed dates throughout the season, not even in respect of international matches, will be moved at the forthcoming annual meeting of the Irish Football Association.

This follows the recent proposal by the Celtic, at a meeting of the management committee of the Irish League, that all representative matches be played in mid-week.

This latter suggestion has given rise to much discussion, and it is hoped to understand that there is much support for mid-week internationals.

It seems strange that this has only just been made public, having regard to the fact that the representatives of the Irish Football Association have been fighting for the retention of even a Saturday international in Ireland next season.

The officials of the Irish Association can only view the Celtic's proposal as one likely to jeopardize their case, which is to be finally decided at a conference of the four British associations and the Football League to be held shortly.

Other proposals to be submitted by Belfast Celtic at the meeting of the Irish F.A. include one to reduce the association's share of the receipts in the semi-final and final of the Irish Cup and to increase the club's share; and another that the season in Ireland should begin on the third Saturday of August instead of August 20 as the rule at present states.

A proposal to ban any clubs or organization under the Irish F.A. from playing matches anywhere on Sunday will be discussed at the meeting. Cliftonville, the famous amateur club, are authors of the proposal which seeks to amend the present rule regarding Sunday play.

This is bound to be the subject of much discussion as several legislators are of the opinion that clubs can play with clubs of the federation on any day provided it is the custom of the clubs of the federation.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

powerless to do anything about it. Can anything be done to correct this condition?

THE BILL-PAYER.

Answer:—Nothing, unless you can bring your wife to see the error of her ways and make her realize that she is wrecking her home, alienating her husband from her, and bringing up children who will be a curse to her and to themselves.

And nothing short of a miracle from on high can open the eyes of a woman who is blinded with mother love. She is besotted with her infatuation. She is an idolater who is joined to her gods, and nothing that you can do or say will make her face the truth and perceive what an unforgivable sin she is committing.

You can remind her that psychologists say that the life pattern of a child is set by the time it three or four years old, and that if she permits her children to be impudent to her when they are young they will abuse her when they are old. You can tell her that if she does not teach her children to respect her when they are little, they will have a contempt for her when they are big. You can point out to her the old fathers and mothers whose children neglect them, who never show the mothers who bore them or the father who slaved to support them the slightest affection or consideration.

You can show her the spoiled children whose whole lives have been ruined by a weak and silly mother's pampering. They are all around you, men and women who have become failures because their mothers never disciplined them, because their mothers never taught them any self-control, because their mothers never taught them to respect any one or to bow to any authority. Half of the men who can never keep jobs were mother's pet. Half of the unhappy marriages are those of men and women who thought they could talk back to their husbands and wives as they did to their mothers.

You can show the mother who loves her child too well to make them behave, the handwork of other women who felt the same way about their children, but she never heeds the warning. She is sure that her children, whom she permits to insult her and walk roughshod over her, will change into loving, dutiful sons and daughters when they are grown. And so she goes on laying up sorrow for her old age. Anyway, she is too weak and cowardly to fight with strong-willed youngsters, and it is easier for her to lie down and take it than to do battle with them.

Personally, I never have a tear to shed over the old mothers who have ungrateful children. If ever in the world there is an individual who gets what is coming to them, she does. For her children are what she made them, and if she taught them to despise her and abuse her and treat her with less tenderness than they would a dog, she is simply reaping the harvest she sowed. It isn't luck how your children treat you. It is relentless cause and effect.

And the pity of it is that the father has also to pay for the mother's folly, because she nullifies his every effort to control the children. And there is nothing he can do about it because their mother makes them think that he is persecuting them whenever he tries to discipline them.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX:—Which is the easier path to success for a man—married or single? I have been ambitious through life to do something more than live comfortably with a wife. I am happily married to a good woman, but supporting a family keeps the nose to the grindstone, so to speak, and leaves precious little time or money for promotion in other fields.

Answer:—You remember what Kipling says: "He travels the faster who travels alone," and on the face of it that would seem to be true. The average man who marries when he is young does put a load upon his back that handicaps him in shinning up the ladder of success. He is tied to his job and dares not give up a poor one on the chance of getting a better one. He is not free to move about as the bachelor is. It takes all he can possibly make to support his family in any sort of decent comfort, so he cannot lay aside the money that is the golden key that so often unlocks the door to opportunity.

Certainly at the beginning of his career in any of the professions the single man has a far better chance of making social contacts that will push his fortunes than the married man has. The unmarried preacher is the pet and darling of all the feminine part of his congregation. The bachelor lawyer or doctor is sought after as a guest by prominent hostesses who would never bother with him if he had to drag a wife along with him.

Nor are wives always sympathetic with their husbands' ambitions and willing to give them a boost in their climbing. Many a woman keeps her husband so enslaved to milliners and dress shops and grocers and bakers that he never has a penny to invest in anything. Many a woman drags her husband around at night to parties until he is so exhausted he is incapable of doing his work. Many a woman prevents her husband from reading and studying and keeping up with his profession because she wants him to entertain her of an evening.

A wife can be an inspiration as well as a discourager to ambition, and she can be a help as well as a hindrance. She can brace a man to do the best that is in him. She can make friends for him, and she can be a press agent. So whether it is better for an ambitious man to marry or stay single depends upon the kind of a woman he marries.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SHAVING TRICK

By HOWARD H. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily rubbed his paw on his chin and said: "I think I'll go up in the bath room and shave. I'll be back in a minute." "Oh, but I came up and watch you!" asked Baby Buntie, the little orphan rabbit. "I love to watch you shave, Uncle Wiggily." "Well, if you don't speak any more you'll talk me out of my shave," said Uncle Wiggily. "But won't you be able to shave for me?" "Oh, no, Uncle Wiggily," she answered. "I have lots of time." So up the stairs she hopped to the bath room and sat on a stool in a corner with her back toward the window, which was open to let in the fresh air. Uncle Wiggily slipped on his razor and stood in front of the looking glass, with his back to Baby Buntie. The rabbit gentleman did not stand with his back to Buntie to be impolite, but because he must look in the mirror when he put the soapy lather on his face so he could cut off his whiskers with white lather all over his face and Buntie wanted to laugh. But she didn't fear she might frighten him. She was so sure of her own very quiet on the stool. Then, all of a sudden, when Uncle Wiggily had almost finished shaving he saw in the glass the shape of the Bob Cat clinging in the bath room window, right behind him. Buntie's little snoring could not see the Bob Cat because he was back toward him. But Mr. Longears saw and, dropping his razor, he turned around and cried: "Uncle Wiggily, look! The tube of shaving soap!" "Oh, you want more?" asked Buntie. "No, but the Bob Cat does!" shouted Mr. Longears. "With that he took the tube from Buntie and before the Bob Cat could pop in, Uncle Wiggily succeeded so much soap in his eyes that the Bob Cat couldn't see and he fell back out of the window and bumped his silly little tail. So it all happened for the best. And if the goldfish will stop splashing water on the bottom of the tub, it is time to go to bed." "Oh, yes, I promise," said Baby Buntie. "Oh, what fun." She took the tube of shaving soap

WOMAN SPY IS REPORTED SHOT

Associated Press
La Paz, Bolivia, May 15.—Reports of a woman spy were reported in dispatches from the Gran Chaco jungle area, over which Bolivia and Paraguay are at war.

The government published the reports, without comment, although the execution was denied by officials at Paraguay's capital, Asuncion.

The woman — her name was not given — was said to have been convicted of informing the Bolivian command of a flight of President Ayala of Paraguay to the front.

THE QUEENS OF THE FLEET MEET IN HONOLULU

This interesting photograph, the work of E. G. Richardson of Vancouver, handmaster of the Ss. Empress of Japan, shows the Empress of Britain on the left and the Empress of Japan on the right tied up at Honolulu, with Aloha Tower between them. The Britain was on her third annual voyage around the world and the Japan was on her way to Victoria from the Orient when they met at the crossroads of the Pacific.

Thrilling Flight Over Mount Fuji

Joseph Choate of Los Angeles, and Sister of Lowell Thomas, Received Thrill of a Lifetime; Started Out to Visit Indian Maharajah

"It was the biggest thrill of my life," stated Joseph W. Choate, young deputy district attorney of Los Angeles, as he told today the story of his recent flight over Mount Fuji, Japan's sacred mountain. Mr. Choate was a visitor this morning aboard the liner President Grant, returning from a holiday trip to the Orient. He made the flight with Miss Phyllis Thomas, a sister of Lowell Thomas, and a Japanese pilot.

"Fuji is magnificent, no matter which way you look at it, but from the air the sight is a truly glorious one," said Mr. Choate. "We were up for two hours, and we saw the sun rise out of the east. It was a sight I will never forget. We went up 13,500 feet, the highest altitude, I was given to understand, that has ever been attained in Japan."

Mr. Choate said the first flight of foreigners over Mount Fuji gripped the imagination of the Japanese people. All Japan was talking about the flight, he said. They were greatly pleased that two Americans should thus honor their sacred mountain.

The Japanese government, Mr. Choate said, gave him every assistance. Permission had to be secured from the War Office and from various other departments, but arrangements were made for the flight within forty-eight hours. Then they had to wait five days for favorable weather.

The plan for flying over Fuji was formulated by Mr. Choate and Miss Thomas as they sailed westward to Japan in March aboard the Ma. Chichibu Maru. When the captain of the ship told them it was too early in the season to climb "Fuji San," they decided they would fly over the mountain, if it were at all possible.

Mr. Choate started out early in March from Los Angeles to visit the Maharajah of Kashmir, in India, whom he had entertained at a banquet in Los Angeles. He intended to go to Kashmir and stay at the Maharajah's palace, but when he reached Manila he took sick and decided he had better book passage back to the Philippines. The terrible heat of the Philippine Islands, after the sub-zero weather of Manchukuo, where he had spent some days, did not agree with him. It was 110 degrees in Manila, Mr. Choate said, and he thought it would be unwise to go to India, where it would probably be 125 degrees.

Chinese Here Bound Chicago

A party of Chinese exhibit for the World's Fair, which will reopen June 1, a party of prominent Chinese of Shanghai, headed by Dr. Z. L. Chang, passed through Victoria this morning aboard the Ss. President Grant. During the visit to the ship to this port they took a sightseeing drive about Victoria.

The great jade pagoda, which attracted much attention at the exhibition last summer, was displayed. Dr. Chang said. The Chinese exhibit will be a little larger, and will contain a number of curios and exhibits, the party said.

Traveling with Dr. Chang were Mr. and Mrs. Chow Kwan Hung, Nyl Chan, Tang, T. K. Hsueh, Ford T. Poo, G. S. Miao, P. T. Mah, Miss Y. C. Chang, Miss W. T. Deung and W. T. Chang.

Two Vessels In Esquimalt Dock

The two crack liners of the triangle run, the Princess Marguerite and the Princess Kathleen, were this morning floated into the Dominion Government drydock at Esquimalt harbor for annual overhaul. The Kathleen went in first and the Marguerite followed, making an imposing sight.

The two ships will be in the giant basin about three days while they are thoroughly overhauled, cleaned and painted by workmen from Yarrow's Limited. They will start service next week.

At the Yarrow outfitting wharf is the Ss. Princess Louise, which is having extensive alterations carried out to her passenger accommodation. She will be commissioned on the Alaska run next month.

IXION SAILS TO VANCOUVER

Leaves After 28-Hour Delay Here; Californians Take Overland Route

After remaining idle at the outer docks of Victoria for more than twenty-four hours, the Blue Funnel liner Ixion proceeded at noon today to Vancouver to discharge her cargo for that port. When she will proceed to Seattle was not announced. She was held here by the longshoremen's strike, which is paralyzing shipping at all Pacific Coast ports of the United States.

Local people going to California this week by water, as well as returning Californians, will have to go south overland, as all sailings of ships from Victoria this week have been cancelled.

At a meeting of the Victoria Association of Transport Workers and the Victoria Riggers and Stevedores, held yesterday evening in their headquarters on Ontario Street it was decided by a majority vote not to work at Victoria any cargo originally destined to Seattle. Local longshoremen took this stand in sympathy with striking dock workers at other ports.

It was explained at the meeting that the cargo which was removed from the Ixion yesterday morning, besides the regular local freight, was optional for Victoria and Seattle, and local dock workers unloaded it pending a wire from New York regarding its ultimate destination. No further Seattle cargo was removed from the ship, and no attempts have been made to recruit gangs of non-union workers.

The President Grant, which was here this morning from the Orient had 4,000 tons of cargo in her hold for Seattle. Just how this cargo was going to be discharged when the ship reached Seattle this afternoon was not known here.

Navy People Aboard Grant

Returning from periods of duty with the United States fleet at Shanghai and Manila, several young naval officers, accompanied by their wives and families, passed through Victoria this morning aboard the Ss. President Grant. They proceeded with the ship to Seattle and will leave this evening for Washington to report to naval head office.

In the party were Lieut. J. B. Bosch, Lieut. T. P. Donohue, with his wife and son, Lieut. S. D. Marks, with his wife and daughter, Lieut. Philip Niekum, with his wife, and Lieut. E. N. Teal.

Regina, May 15 (Canadian Press).—Harold Dewey, taxi driver reported missing since 5 p.m. Sunday, was located by police late yesterday afternoon. He gave police no explanation of his absence. Friends had feared the Dewey had been kidnapped.
